Technicians work on Gemini 8 at Cape Kennedy, Fla. They planned to replace the spacecraft's systems with Gemini 9's. The Gemini 8 rendezvous and spacewalk missions were postponed at least until Wednesday after leaks were discovered in both the spacecraft and the Atlas rocket. (See Story on Page 2).

U.S. Pressing China To Lower Barriers

... FURTHER EFFORTS EXPECTED

Washington (AP)—The United States is pressing Communist China through public and diplomatic channels to lower barriers between the two countries, officials said Monday, and the next effort probably will be made Wednesday in a meeting of ambassadors at Warsaw.

A prediction that more and more free world governments will help the United States in Viet Nam came from Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

"The facts about the cause and nature of the struggle there, and the vital stakes involved, are increasingly realized throughout the free world," Rusk said in a speech at Boston University.

A declaration by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey that the United States is following a policy of containment of Red Chinese power, without seeking to isolate China from the rest of the world, was viewed in official quarters as an attempt also to get across to Peking the U.S. interest in opening contacts.

The White House denied Monday that Humphrey was revealing any significant change or switch in United States policy toward China and said rather that what he was doing was trying to emphasize a "flexible attitude of mind" on this issue which "the administration . . . has always maintained." Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., whose Foreign Relations Committee has been holding hearings on Johnson administration policy in Southeast Asia, was asked in Chicago if developments indicated there might be a change in U.S. policy toward Red China. He replied that he doesn't know.

Fulbright endorsed the idea of containing Red China on grounds that no country can be permitted to "run loose," but rather the Chinese should be excluded from contact and trade with other nations is another matter, he added.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said he would support Humphrey's view.

Some politically minded observers thought Humphrey probably was trying to readjust his own personal position.

Upon returning from a Far Eastern tour recently, he jumped into the hot argument here over giving communists a place in a coalition government which might be set up in Saigon someday—a line advocated at one point by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y. It is known that there was some concern within the administration after Humphrey joined the debate that he might have hardened the U.S. position too much.

This concern persisted after the Senate Foreign Relations Committee switched its attention last week to Johnson administration policy toward Red China.

Some witnesses there took the line that the administration is sometimes too extreme in its reactions to things the Red Chinese do.

Humphrey emphasized evidence and argument to the effect that the United States wants to get along with the Red Chinese to the extent that the Chinese themselves will permit.

State Department officials said they have noted reports that Red China's first broadcast reaction to this Humphrey comment was that it was the "kiss of Judas."

CORPS REQUEST CUT

Won't Use Any Of Flight Line

... MORE TALKS TODAY

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Federal Job Corps officials Monday withdrew their request for disputed facilities along the flight line at the Lincoln Air Force Base.

However, a lack of agreement may still exist between city officials and Job Corps over about 10 buildings, some of them warehouses, located outside the flight line area.

A decision on whether Lincoln will permit use of those buildings for a Job Corps center for men at LAFB may come Tuesday after meetings of the Lincoln Opportunity Team and the Airport Authority.

Up To Authority

Mayor Dean Petersen told newsmen that the decision will be determined by whether the Airport Authority "can live with what the Job Corps proposes."

The buildings in doubt have "commercial possibilities," Petersen noted, particularly the warehouses. The Job Corps wants the structures for vocational training shops.

Petersen said the amended Job Corps proposal "leaves the flight line completely intact" and leaves untouched "what is necessary for commercial activity at the base."

Asked if he would personally recommend approval of the Job Corps request, the mayor said he would "prefer to think about it awhile."

Pat Healy, director of community relations for the Job Corps, told newsmen following a city-Job Corps conference that city officials now know, for the first time, the minimum needs for a successful Job Corps center at LAFB.

"We no longer ask, nor do we think we need, any property near the flight line," Healy said.

Reduced Area

"We have proposed to the mayor and to other city officials a much reduced area in which we think we could operate one of the most successful Job Corps centers in the country."

Discussions with the mayor indicated that both parties "seem to be quite close" to agreement, Healy said.

In addition to the buildings under question, there may still be a problem relating to access of traffic at the base, Healy noted.

Unique Potential

LAFB and the Job Corps proposal submitted by Northern Natural Gas Company in association with the University of Nebraska offer "a unique potential" for success, Healy said.

"This would be the first time a major corporation and a major university could operate a Job Corps center on their home grounds," he noted.

LAFB is "a very nice facility" for a center, he said.

First Urban Center

Job Corps is already functioning successfully at three Nebraska locations, Healy pointed out, although the LAFB site would be Nebraska's first urban center for men.

The Job Corps hopes that it could operate the Lincoln center "in the Boys Town tradition," he said.

The LAFB center would house 1,500 Corpsmen, require a staff of 600 persons with a payroll of some $4 million a year. Annual operating budget would surpass $8 million.

Ashau Antiaircraft Silenced Despite Fiercest Groundfire

Saigon (AP)—Screaming over mountaintops, U.S. Marine and Air Force jets pounded a North Vietnamese regiment holding the Ashau Special Forces camp Monday, apparently silencing its antiaircraft defenses despite the heaviest groundfire yet encountered in South Viet Nam.

Officials in Saigon said no U.S. planes were lost and that the attacks on the border camp destroyed one building and knocked out five mortar positions.

With war action elsewhere continuing to ebb, there were these other developments:

—Saigon's special anticorruption tribunal sentenced Dang Cao Sach, a former official, to death on charges of embezzling $104,000 in public funds. (Picture on Page 2.)

Political Troubles Touched

off by Saigon's dismissal of Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi as 1st Corps commander appeared to be simmering down. Da Nang, the center of pro-Thi demonstrations, returned to normal Monday. Thi, 43, had been a virtual overlord of the nation's five northernmost provinces and was regarded as a potential rival to Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

Gardner Mission

A U.S. mission headed by Health, Education and Welfare Secretary John W. Gardner arrived in Saigon to explore ways of helping the South Vietnamese government carry out the social reforms promised by Ky and President Johnson at their Honolulu meeting.

"We're not here to make quick splash," Gardner told newsmen. "We're here to observe and to try to understand . . . It's the start of something that will be going on for months and years to come."

A combined U.S.-Australian force encountered a Viet Cong unit in the jungles 30 miles northeast of Saigon.

42 Missions

U.S. briefing officers in Saigon reported that U.S. planes flew 42 missions against North Viet Nam despite bad weather Sunday, striking again at targets around Vinh on the coast and Dien Bien Phu near the Laotian border.

The Marines and Air Force threw some of their sleekest jets at the North Vietnamese who overran the Ashau camp.

Officials in Saigon said all U.S. and Vietnamese that could be rescued from the mountaintop camp had been. They expressed hope that other survivors could make their way through the mountains to Da Nang, 60 miles to the east.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, specially commended the U.S. airmen who plucked from the camp 20 downed airmen, 12 U.S. Army Special Forces men and 136 Montagnards and South Vietnamese defenders. Westmoreland called the rescue operation a saga "equal to any in the history of courage."

Communist antiaircraft gunners brought down a half dozen American planes at Ashau last week.

18 Charter Amendments Go On Ballot

By BOB SCHREFF
Star Staff Writer

Eighteen proposed amendments to the City Charter were approved by the City Council Monday to be submitted to voters on the May 10 election ballot.

The council's resolution was passed after a public hearing at which opposition was voiced against an amendment which would repeal the city tax ceiling and support was given by the news media for a proposal which would strengthen present charter provisions on public records.

"Discussion of the public records proposal resulted in an argument over words between representatives of the news media and the council. It also caused the only change in all 18 amendments approved by the council."

"Too Broad"

The press version of the amendment, worded that all "convened" meetings of the council and other boards, commissions and advisory groups appointed by the mayor or council "shall be held in City Hall or some other public place supported by public funds and open to the general public," was termed too broad by council members.

Remained in critical condition

Varilek was booked on an open charge in connection with the accident and was held at police headquarters. Police said Varilek was driving on a suspended license when the accident happened.

Police identified the youth as Randy Varilek, 19, of Beemer. Varilek—and his girlfriend, who was with him at the time the mishap occurred—gave statements to police Monday afternoon, police said.

Still Critical

Meanwhile, young Claussen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Claussen, Storm Lake, Iowa, remained in critical condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital.

Paul Douglas Tuesday, police added.

Varilek's girlfriend, who m police declined to identify, called her parents for advice following the accident. The girl's parents, in turn, contacted the Cumming County attorney who contacted Douglas.

"Douglas made arrangements with the Cumming County attorney to have the kids report to me at 1:30 today," Police Inspector Robert Sawdon said.

The accident occurred

Saturday night on Madison between 44th and 45th. It was witnessed by Jeffrey J. Clapper, 9, of 4344 Madison.

"We don't want to be put in the position where we can't operate," said Councilman John Comstock. Other council members defended the council's right to closed, fact-finding sessions.

Editors of Lincoln newspapers took exception to the council's public records proposal which stated that all "official" meetings would be open to the public and the news media.

Budget sessions are a case in point, said William O. Dobler, editor of The Star. "They are unofficial meetings, but it rules out the public knowing what is behind the yes and no votes. Fact-finding in this respect is as important as decision making," Dobler said.

Joe R. Seacrest of the Lincoln Journal said the press would oppose the amendment if the term "official" is retained. "We will argue what is official and what is not, and if a meeting is unofficial, whether it should be official," he said.

Seacrest argued that a meeting convened by a chairman should be an open meeting with minutes kept on file and a recorded vote taken of any official action.

After debate, the council decided that open meetings as defined in the proposed amendment would be a meeting "convened for official business."

The amendment to remove the ceiling on the tax base was opposed by several private citizens.

Mrs. Elinor Brown, 625 So. 56th, said the amendment would reduce the confidence people have in government.

Leo Bartunek, 1039 So. 11th, told the council that it is not a good practice to give a blank check to government. "This is a very serious suggestion in view of the fact that taxes are levied against only about 50% of the property serviced by the city," he said.

Other amendments approved by the council which will appear on the May 10 ballot:

Repeal an amendment expanding the city revenue bond authority to allow acquisition of retail distribution electric property within the corporate limits and telephone fields or functions to present areas covered by revenue bond provisions.

Repeal an amendment relating to construction and removal of buildings within the city and outside as allowed by state law and expand to include sewage disposal facilities, water systems and storm sewers.

Repeal an amendment relating to payment of in lieu of taxes by utilities operated by the city and to conform the city charter with state law so that the city will not have to pay more taxes than Consumers Public Power

District has been paying on the property acquired.

Repeal an amendment providing that purchases below $5,000 (rather than $1,000) can be made without necessity of sealed bids and other charter changes in the purchasing field.

Repeal an amendment to implement the consolidation of city and county tax collections and keeps City Council on board of equalization in some cases.

Repeal an amendment giving the City Attorney authority to investigate and employ counsel, accountants, engineers and other experts and employees.

Repeal an amendment making the annual salary of each City Council member $2,000 yearly while the mayor shall receive an annual salary to be fixed by the Council which shall be not less than $3,000 annually.

Repeal an amendment allowing the Council, by ordinance, to create such offices and departments within the executive branch that may be necessary and requiring that each city director shall meet such requirements, professional experience and otherwise as shall qualify him for the duties of his office.

Repeal an amendment to remove the city attorney from the classified service and shall serve with a two-year appointment with City Council approval.

Repeal an amendment providing that hearings before the Board of Zoning Appeals are final, with appeals directly to District Court.

Repeal an amendment authorizing the city to establish a Commission on Human Rights to facilitate the development of city policy and organization, powers and duties of the Commission shall be as established by ordinance.

Repeal an amendment relating to the City Council to provide for code of ethics for employees, elected officials and members of boards and commissions.

Repeal an amendment to harmonize the city with state law and provide for improvement not to exceed six months and fines not to exceed $500 as may be provided by ordinance.

Repeal an amendment allowing the city to purchase ground for and to acquire, construct, establish, operate and maintain museums, historic sites and buildings and to receive grants, donations and bequests of money or property for the above purposes in trust or otherwise.

Repeal an amendment allowing the City Council to approve the sale of real property having a value in excess of $5,000 and authorizing the city to receive grants, donations, devices and bequests.

Morrison Sees No Need To Call Special Session

Gov. Frank Morrison said Monday he sees no need for a special session of the Legislature to consider the University of Nebraska budget squeeze.

He said no request for one has been made by University officials.

The governor and the Legislature's Budget Committee believes the University can work out its money pinch without increasing student tuition rates and without a special state appropriation.

Chancellor Clifford Hardin said earlier the University needs about $500,000 to carry the institution through the two-year fiscal period ending

He mentioned as possible sources a special one-year student fee or a tuition hike.

The budget problem stems from underestimation of the student population growth to the last session of the Legislature. Nearly 17,000 are expected to enroll by 1967.

The University Student Senate plans to meet Tuesday with the Board of Regents to request support for a special session.

Morrison said Budget Committee Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings and Committee Vice Chairman George Gerdes of Alliance plan to meet with the Regents soon.

Allies Agree Fully Alliance Must Live

Paris (UPI) — The United States and its North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies have reached full agreement that NATO must be continued, without France if necessary, informed diplomatic sources said Monday.

The French delegation was absent as the permanent representatives of the 14 other NATO members met for three hours to confirm their united stand in the face of French

President Charles de Gaulle's efforts to tear down the alliance.

Indonesian Reds Given Ultimatum

Singapore, (AP)—Lt. Gen. Suharto Monday ordered all Indonesian Communist officials to surrender to local military commands by the end of March, Radio Jakarta reported.

The new Indonesian strongman warned that action will be taken against those ignoring the order. He also directed all political parties to accept no Communists as members.

The radio said a big rally in Jakarta Tuesday will demonstrate "utmost gratitude" to Suharto for banning the Communist Party.

Informed sources in Singapore said Suharto and his supporter, Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, were receiving pledges of support from provincial chiefs and political organizations throughout the nation of 3,000 islands.

Firing Set It Off

President Sukarno fired Nasution as defense minister last month, touching off violent student demonstrations that finally led to the switch of power.

Radio Jakarta was careful to say Suharto took over on Sukarno's order and that all orders were issued in the name of the president, who apparently still is in his palace in Jakarta.

Travelers arriving from Jakarta said two agents of Deputy Premier Subandrio's intelligence service were shot Saturday when paratroopers and military police went to arrest 20 of them. The travelers said that as far as they knew, this was the only bloodshed in the turnover of power. They said the agents surrendered after a brief shooting match.

Cabinet Announcement

Informed sources in Singapore said Suharto is expected shortly to announce a new cabinet, in which Nasution will have a powerful position.

The sources expected that Sukarno will be retained as figurehead president, "unless he tries to get cute," as one informant phrased it.

Jakarta Radio broadcast renewed appeals by Suharto to businessmen and trades to help bring Indonesia back from the verge of economic chaos.

Radio Jakarta said Indonesia will continue its policy of confrontation against Malaysia.

ters from France and the withdrawal of all French forces from NATO command, has triggered the alliance's gravest internal crisis.

Diplomatic sources said "the 14" confirmed their earlier agreement that the crisis is a matter for joint concern and not for bilateral talks between individual members and the French.

The sources said there was complete agreement that NATO must continue.

The sources said that in addition to the Paris talks, consultations on the crisis also are going on between member countries because of the "extraordinarily complex" nature of the problems involved.

(In Bonn, a West German government spokesman said NATO is absolutely necessary to West German security.)

("A NATO without France is better than no NATO at all," said State Secretary Karl-Guenther von Hase.)

(Similar support for NATO came from British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart, who said De Gaulle's decision struck at the whole structure of Western defense. He said, however, the alliance would survive without France.)

Double Trouble Delays Gemini 8

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — Troubles struck the Gemini 8 rendezvous and spacewalk mission Monday, forcing a delay in the space double-header until Wednesday or later.

Officials postponed the historic three-day flight from

Tuesday after technicians ran across a leak in the spacecraft's environment system and discovered volatile fuel loose inside a 66-foot Atlas rocket.

The Atlas is to blast an Agena rocket into orbit for Gemini 8's astronauts, Neil Armstrong and David Scott, to chase and catch, in man's first try at hitching two vehicles together in space.

The possibility of delay longer than one day arose with a decision to replace Gemini 8's entire environmental control system.

Workers switched the fault ty system with the one from Gemini 9, a spacecraft not due for flight until probably sometime in May.

A few hours after detection, the problem in the Atlas was determined to be the result of an overflow of fuel during loading. Officials expressed confidence the big rocket could meet a Wednesday launch date.

However, optimism waned when the spacecraft, atop a Titan 2 rocket, had a problem peskier than originally thought.

The leak developed in the spacesuit circuit which separates moisture from recirculated cabin air during flight. It is part of the environment system, which has the overall chore of keeping the spacecraft atmosphere healthy and comfortable.

Armstrong and Scott, two rookie astronauts handed one of the toughest assignments yet in the nation's space program, took advantage of the extra day to bone up on tricky spacewalk procedures. They spent some time in a mock-up version of the Gemini spacecraft practicing difficult tasks they must perform when Scott leaves his tiny orbiting home for a 2½-hour spacewalk 1½ times around the world.

the quarantine may be shortened.

"When we think they are ready," he said, "they will be moved into the same cage. It's anybody's guess how long they will be together. Maybe they will mate immediately. Maybe it will take a fortnight."

Zoo officials are prepared for a "skirmish," he said, as the two pandas never have seen another panda and may decide to fight it out. Devices are on hand to separate them if necessary, he said.

Chi-Chi Nervously Awaits Mating Date With An-An

Moscow (UPI) — Jumpy as a girl on her first date, Chi-Chi the English panda paced her Moscow cage Monday night and tried to settle down in her temporary new home.

Chi-Chi, a 235-pound spinner giant panda from the London Zoo, was flown here last week for a mating with An-An, the Moscow Zoo's bachelor panda. The hoped-for result: one of the first baby giant pandas born in captivity.

Photographers who went to the zoo Monday were shooed away by officials there. And Oliver Graham-Jones, a London Zoo veterinarian who accompanied her here, said he was working hard to calm Chi-Chi down.

Upset From Flight

"She's still upset from her flight," Graham-Jones said, "and we're most anxious that she should settle in without disturbances."

"After spending most of her life in one place, she now must get used to new surroundings," he said. "She still is very sensitive to strangers and we're having a trouble settling her in."

Chi-Chi was moved into An-An's old home at the zoo, while he went to a new house.

Liberal Orders Inquiry; Tory Charges Slander

Ottawa (AP)—Conservative leader John Diefenbaker confronted his Liberal accusers Monday at a tumultuous session of the House of Commons looking into alleged links between members of his former cabinet and a blonde German beauty.

He accused the Liberals of resorting to "smear, scuttlebutt, slander and smut."

The former prime minister contended the Liberals were undermining public confidence.

Justice Minister Lucien Cardin, who raised the sex-and-security case last week, in turn challenged Diefenbaker to stake his parliamentary seat on the outcome of a full inquiry.

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson told Commons he has ordered an extensive investigation into the activities of Gerda Munsinger, 36, now in West Germany. Cardin has charged she was engaged in espionage before coming to Canada in the 1950s. She has denied having been a spy. Pearson said the inquiry would be conducted by Supreme Court Justice W. F. Spence. The move had been approved earlier at a 2½-hour cabinet meeting.

Diefenbaker and other Conservative leaders denied at the stormy Commons session that any security risk was involved.

Mrs. Munsinger said she was acquainted with at least two Diefenbaker cabinet members while she worked in Canada as a waitress, a model and a secretary. She named former Trade Minister George Hees and former Associate Defense Minister Pierre Sevigny as politicians she knew socially.

Hees told Commons he recognized pictures of Mrs. Munsinger as a person he once knew but that at no time did his personal conduct jeopardize security.

Diefenbaker said the Liberals had smeared all his former cabinet colleagues, even those now dead.

"One after another my colleagues look at each other and say 'Is it you? Is it you?' This is fascism at its worst!" Diefenbaker shouted.

Retort

Diefenbaker has seen the file and knows the names, Cardin replied.

He said he is not afraid to name names in Commons, but added: "I don't believe that is the right thing to do."

Cardin's charge apparently was based on the fact that Mrs. Munsinger was once denied entrance into the United States as a security risk.

The U.S. State Department confirmed that Mrs. Munsinger was refused an American visa in 1953, but Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey declined "at this time" to give the reasons.

McCloskey acknowledged, however, that Canada had been informed "very recently" of the reasons for denying the visa.

EIGHT HOURS AT SEA ON BED

Calais, France (AP)—Six young men and a girl floated into Calais Monday aboard a bedstead after a trip from Ramsgate, England, that took almost eight hours.

Their bedstead was equipped with empty oil drums for flotation, two small outboard motors for propulsion, and a rudder for guidance.

The sea was calm, the weather cold. They left Ramsgate at 8:30 a.m. and arrived in Calais at 4:10 p.m., several hours later than expected. The passengers gave no reason for the delay.

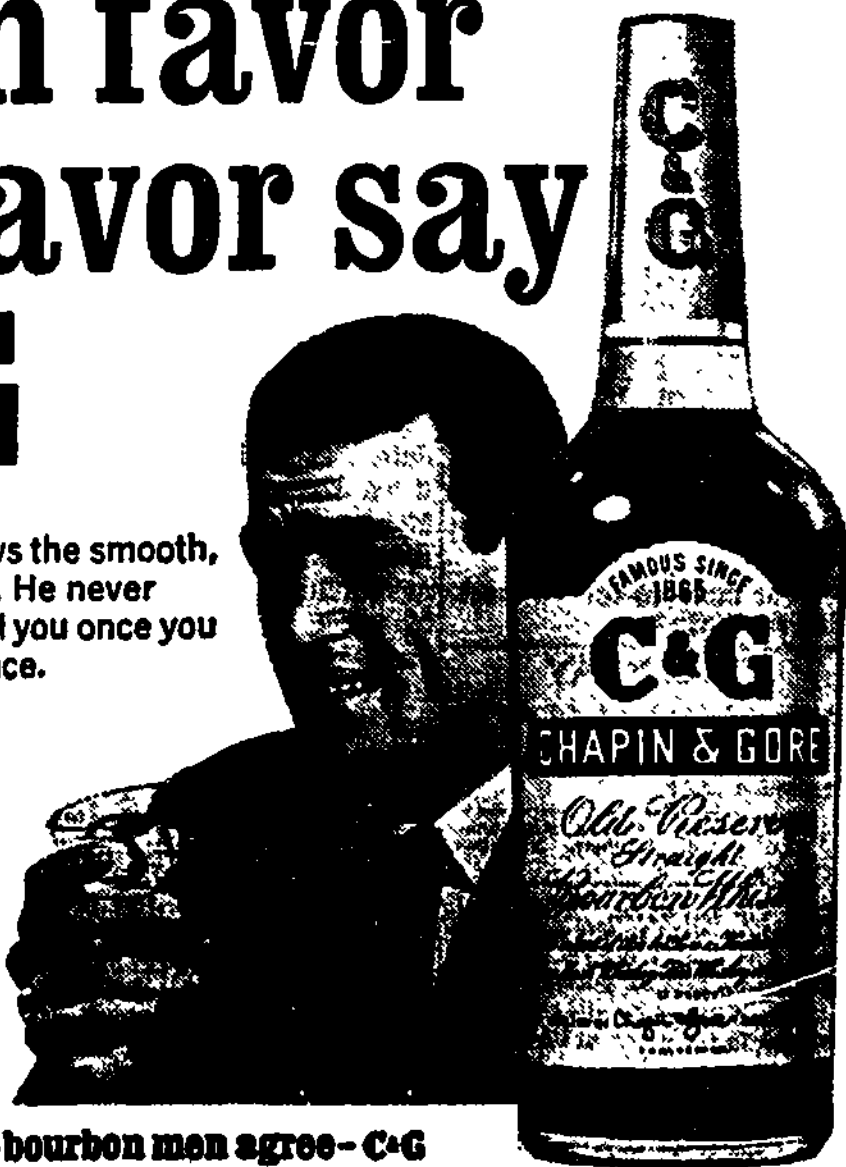

After reaching Calais, the students again boarded the bed and set out on the return trip.

Knotwell Trial Under Way In Madison Court

... Charged With Embezzlement

Madison (U) — A jury of six men and six women began hearing evidence Monday in the trial of former Norfolk Police Chief Otis Knotwell, charged with four counts of public embezzlement in connection with missing Norfolk Police Department funds.

In his opening statement to the District Court jury, Madison County Attorney Richard Muetting said the state's case would be based on circumstantial evidence.

"We're not going to say somebody saw him put the money in his pocket," Muetting said. He said only one other officer handled the fund collection and there were no complaints of discrepancies in his handling of the funds.

Defense attorney Vincent Kirby said there was no evidence that Knotwell received the money. "Anyone had the opportunity to take the money," Kirby said. "It was not under lock and key except while in his Knotwell's desk. I think you will be convinced that he is the one upon whom blame could be most easily fixed."

Kirby said evidence would show that Knotwell didn't know anything about fiscal management, but was a law enforcement officer who assumed the men he was working with were honest. He added that Knotwell would testify he did not know of the shortages.

The defense attorney said that the city clerk did not know of the shortages, nor did the City Council, city administrative assistant, School Board or School Board secretary—all of them people with more training in fiscal management than Knotwell.

The first two witnesses heard were Mayor Ed Vrzal and former city administrator Greg Stuve, now of Omaha.

Savings And Loan Firms Face Crisis

Washington (U) — The climb of bank interest rates has confronted savings and loan firms with "a year of crisis" in the competition for investors' savings, an industry spokesman said Monday night.

Widening concern over tight money — caused partly by last week's increase from 5 to 5.5% in the rate charged by major New York banks on prime business loans — brought these further reactions from savings and loan quarters:

—A proposal that President Johnson name a special commission to study and recommend possible changes in the rules which restrict the investments and dividend payments of savings and loan firms.

—A forecast that the federal reserve board may again be forced — perhaps in April — to raise the discount rate. That is the interest charged by Federal Reserve Banks on their loans to commercial banks.

Brugh Rites Set For Alma; Crash Victim

Lincoln Star Special
Alma—Funeral services for Dennis E. Brugh, 16, of Republican City will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Peace Lutheran Church in Alma.

The Alma High School student lost his life Saturday night in a two-car collision at 70th and Pioneer, just outside the city limits near Lincoln. Five others were injured in the accident.

Young Brugh's survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brugh of Republican City; brothers, Herbert of Lincoln and Duane of Republican City; sister, Janice, University of Nebraska student; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Karl J. Fischer of Alma.

3 Still Hospitalized

Of the five others injured in the crash, three were still being treated at Bryan Memorial Hospital Monday. The three, all listed in satisfactory condition, were: Kenneth Fischer, 16, of 2120 So. 61st, driver of the car in which the Alma youth was a passenger; Linda Wunderspan, 14, of Alma, another passenger in the Fischer auto; and Kathy Larson of Los Angeles, Calif., a student at Union College, who was riding in the second car involved in the crash.

Treated and released after the crash were Frank Campbell, 15, of 2309 So. 61st, a passenger in the Fischer car; and Owen D. Peterson of Riverside, Calif., a Union College student and driver of the second car.

Trucker Escapes Blast At Hanover

Hanover, Kan. (UPI)—The driver of a gasoline transport truck, who was feared blown up in an explosion and fire at a bulk warehouse here early Monday morning, was found unhurt about four miles from the scene of the blast.

He was identified as Morris Snodgrass, 34, Lawrence, Kan. He stumbled into a pony express station four miles from the scene and was in a state of shock. He apparently had run most of the distance between the warehouse and the station, a replica of those used in pioneer days. Snodgrass was treated and released from a Hanover hospital.

The first of six explosions occurred about 5 a.m.

It was believed that Snodgrass was pumping gas from his transport into a bulk station storage tank. Authorities said Snodgrass apparently realized something had gone

NU Student Dies In Crash On Interstate

Omaha — Mark P. Kosmicki, 22, of Alliance was killed early Monday in a one-car accident on Interstate 80 near L St. in Omaha.

Kosmicki, a University of Nebraska law school student, was dead on arrival at a hospital. Police said the foreign-made car he was driving left the Interstate and rolled over five times. He was wearing a seat belt at the time of the accident.

A passenger, Jan E. Ashby, 22, also from Alliance and a NU student, suffered head injuries and shock. He was reported in good condition at Clarkson Hospital.

Both were reportedly wearing seat belts at the time of the accident.

Retirement Plans Shelved For Time

Falls City (U) — Richardson County School Superintendent Helen Hanika says that she has changed her mind and will seek re-election to the $4,620 a year post. Earlier she had announced plans for retirement but said she would run again after no one had filed for the post.

Panic When You Talk?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports a simple technique of everyday conversation which can pay you real dividends in social and business advancement and works like magic to give you poise, self confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by what they say and how they say it. Whether in business, at social functions, or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances there are ways to make a good impression every time you talk.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in everyday conversation, the publishers have printed full details of their interesting self-training method in a new book, "Adventures in Conversation," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. March Storm Damage Placed At $1,163,550

Gov. Frank Morrison reported Monday that $1,163,550 damage — largely livestock losses — resulted from the March 3-5 blizzard in northwest and northern Nebraska counties.

Morrison said the state Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation committee had not requested any federal disaster aid as yet in submitting the damage record.

However, Morrison noted long-term loans are still available to June 30 under a disaster designation from last year's drought conditions.

Hardest-hit counties were Cherry with loss of 4,000 head of cattle valued at $800,000; Brown with 550 head at $110,000; and Sioux with 430 head at $86,000 and 500 sheep at $10,000.

Other damages reported were for public and private utilities.

The county-by-county damage totals reported were Box Butte, $12,300; Brown, $110,000; Cherry, $800,000; Dawes, $21,150; Rock, $111,500; Sheridan, $4,000; and Sioux, $104,600.

No damages were reported for Scotts Bluff and Morrill Counties.

Nebraska Firms Buy Collection Of Antique Planes

Omaha (U)—Two Nebraska firms have bought one of the world's largest collections of antique airplanes, it was learned Monday.

Rosen No-rak Chevrolet, Omaha auto firm, and the Morrison-Quirk Grain Co., Hastings, have purchased the 45-plane Museum of the Air of Los Angeles. No price was disclosed.

The purchase from Tallmantz Aviation Inc., did not include stunt and service craft which the firm rents to motion picture companies.

Most of the airplanes are operable.

NU Prof. Alexander Will Receive Block & Bridle Club Annual Award

A University of Nebraska professor of animal science will be honored by the NU Block & Bridle Club at its annual banquet May 13.

Martin A. Alexander, a member of the University staff since 1931, will be the 28th individual honored by the club for outstanding contributions to the Nebraska and national livestock industries.

Alexander

The award was established in 1938.

In 1965, Alexander was honored as a "distinguished teacher" by Gamma Sigma Delta, Honor Society of Agriculture.

He spent four years in Turkey, teaching animal husbandry and promoting the use of alfalfa as a livestock feed. To many students in that country he is known as "Mr. Alfalfa."

The dinner, open to the public, will be held at 6:30 p.m., May 13, at the Nebraska Union ballroom on the NU City Campus.

Threat Of Hunger Looms

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

In a letter from Rep. Clair A. Callan, we are told that "in recent years, two major threats to peace in the world have been communism and nuclear power—now, a third threat, world hunger, is rapidly moving into the picture. From the point of view of survival, this danger could easily be the most vital." This is a warning that the people of the United States cannot afford to ignore or to bury in the deceiving tranquility of isolationism.

Representative Callan distributed with his letter a three-part analysis of the situation covering the problem, the solutions and the U.S. role. In the first he states: "The cruel, naked facts show that the world is rapidly facing its worst famines in history. Our world leaders are jittery over the bleak prospects of an early easing of the problem unless the complete resources of all nations are used. Experts estimate it will take 15 to 25 years just to slow down the rate of starvation."

"The world food shortage has been growing since World War II. The population explosion is the heart of the problem. By 1980 the world's population will be 4.6 billion — today it stands at 3.4 billion. These 1.2 billion additional people will require a minimum of 200 million tons of grain per year; plus other agricultural products—over and above what is being produced in the world today."

"Two-thirds of the world's people live in countries with nutritionally inadequate diets. . . . These people average 900 calories per day below the level of the one-third of the world living in countries with adequate national average diets; and 300 calories below the average nutritional standard for the food deficit areas. The daily consumption of protein is less than two-thirds of the level in the food-adequate countries; and the fat consumption rate is less than one-third."

If you think all of this has no meaning, you might look at just a few more of the congressman's words: "Red China's main interest today is food. She has as one of her goals the capturing of the vast fertile lands of the Rice-Bowl of Viet Nam. The full production from these lands could materially ease her critical food needs."

"The food-deficit countries are poor and food shortages merely reflect the low level of living in general. Per capita income is only $97 compared to $1,074 in food-adequate countries. These food-deficit countries are already densely populated with 53 persons per 100 acres of agricultural land compared to 17 persons per 100 acres in the food-adequate countries. And the population is increasing faster in the food-deficit countries."

Representative Callan has introduced a bill of his own toward assisting in the solution of this problem. His bill would establish a national food reserve. He goes on to note that a great many other things need to be done and they should be obvious to most people. For one thing, the situation is so immediately critical that some form of assistance is essential. This must be forthcoming until programs to update agriculture in the have-not nations have been established and are working.

Some people will look at that and lament the fact that it is again suggested that the U.S. come to the aid of other countries. Perhaps these people are tired of helping others and tired of having some of our aid wasted and some of it supporting political ideologies with which we do not agree.

But the unfortunate thing is that we can never afford to grow tired of our responsibilities. We may become disenchanted with many things in life such as rearing a family or performing on a job but we cannot just walk away from it all. We can no more abandon our international challenges as a nation than we can abandon our personal commitments in life as individuals.

We cannot do so, that is, except at great risk, to say nothing of the moral obligations that are involved. We can even plainly see in our own society the disruptive influence of personal inequality. We see those whose achievements or possessions give them little to lose threatening the advancement of those whose progress has been blessed. The same thing is true on the international scene and Red China today is a perfect example of it. American servicemen are dying in Viet Nam because Red China lacks a satisfying way of life for her people.

Even with Red China, the problem is one that we will some day have to face much more realistically than we are doing at the moment. A nation of hungry people is a nation of unrest, bent on the alleviation of their plight by whatever means are available to them. These means include the forcible conquest of lands where hunger is not a national problem. The conquest may fail but it is a better way to die and the victor will not escape his share of casualties.

An Inconsistency

The current debate in Iowa revolves around the question of keeping reserve state funds in banks around the state at 4 per cent interest, or to withdraw the funds for investments in federal treasury certificates which are paying in the neighborhood of 5 per cent.

Sentiment in Iowa is that Iowa capital should remain in Iowa to aid local private credit. But it also felt that the interest of Iowa taxpayers should come first, that is to say, that if the state can get five per cent interest by investing its state surplus in federal paper it should do so in preference to letting the money earn only four per cent in Iowa banks.

This is in sharp contrast to Nebraska where banks are not required to pay anything for state money but have begun to receive substantial deposits — deposits that would earn something like five per cent if used to buy federal treasury certificates.

Iowa can quickly solve its problem by amending its present law limiting the state's charge to four percent to the banks. Lifting the lid would take care of both the taxpayers interest and the desire to keep the money at home.

The puzzling question in this comparison revolves around why Iowa banks are so happy to pay the four per cent and would pay more if the law would permit while in Nebraska there is a feeling that it is a serious encroachment to ask anything of banks in return for state deposits.

There is a serious fiction somewhere in this. Iowa is just across the Missouri river. In essence its banks deal in the same kind of money along the same banking conditions. Why does state money lose its value just because it is on this side of the river?

Federal Reserve Study

The monthly review of the Federal Reserve bank has published a study of the international monetary system. This is the last place where gold figures as a means of settling balances due.

The study comes to the conclusion that the industrial-world trade societies have expanded to the point where there is no longer sufficient gold in the world to sustain it. This reduces the problem to two alternatives. Either slow down trade to the point it can be maintained on the existing gold supply, or devise new methods for settling international trade accounts.

In short, what is happening now to world trade, happened almost a generation ago to our productive-domestic economies.

The Federal Reserve study indicates that the world has been able to make it go since World War II by aid programs and financing devices. But now with the war torn

DREW PEARSON Surrender Slips Get Big Response

WASHINGTON — Offsetting some of our military setbacks, the United States has scored important propaganda victories in South Viet Nam.

The U.S. Information Agency has been dropping red, white and blue slips of paper over Viet Cong territory about the size of football tickets, featuring the stars and stripes and the Viet Nam flags. On the slips is written "safe conduct pass," and these passes are being presented by the Viet Cong in surrendering.

The passes have been hidden in shoes or elsewhere in their clothing, some being so worn they were scarcely legible. Once a whole company surrendered with every member holding a "safe conduct pass." On another occasion two men walked in with only one pass between them. Timidly they asked whether they could both surrender on one pass.

As a result of this propaganda, Viet Cong surrenders have increased from an average of 450 per month during 1964 to 1,657 during December. During the 30 days of the New Year holiday, a total of 2,200 Viet Cong came in holding "safe conduct passes."

The scheme of "safe conduct passes" was worked out under the direction of Leonard Marks, new chief of the U.S. Information Agency. Marks, however, gives credit to one of his assistants, Barry Zorthian, who, he says, "will be one of the heroes of this war."

It was because Judge Thurman Arnold, former trust buster under the New Deal, was fond of pickles that burglars were routed from the Arnolds' Alexandria, Va., home. Getting up at 2 a.m. to go down to the refrigerator and get a kosher pickle, the judge found the window open and his wife's heirloom silver wrapped up in tablecloths waiting for the thieves to come back. They'd gone for their car. When they got back the police were there—thanks to an appetite for pickles. . . .

Rep. Chester Mize, R-Kan., credits Bill Colvin of the Manhattan, Kan., Mercury with the idea of giving free mailing privileges to servicemen to send their voices on tape back home. Mize reports that members of the Post Office committee seemed to be enthusiastic over the idea, and the bill will probably pass. . . .

Rep. Robert Wilson of California, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, is dickering for wholesale rates to buy several thousand copies of Clark Mollenhoff's book, "Despoilers of Democracy," which reviews past Washington scandals. Wilson wants to make the book a Republican campaign document for the November election.

Patchwork Prairie Country

Today a robin sat in our apple tree. He didn't sing a note but somehow it seemed that spring pulsed beneath his feet in the barren branches. The buds will soon swell and cover the orchard with billows of delicate pink blossoms. The rainfall will seep into the ground, the tulips will push through the leaf mold and I will throw the windows open wide to welcome the first balmy breeze.

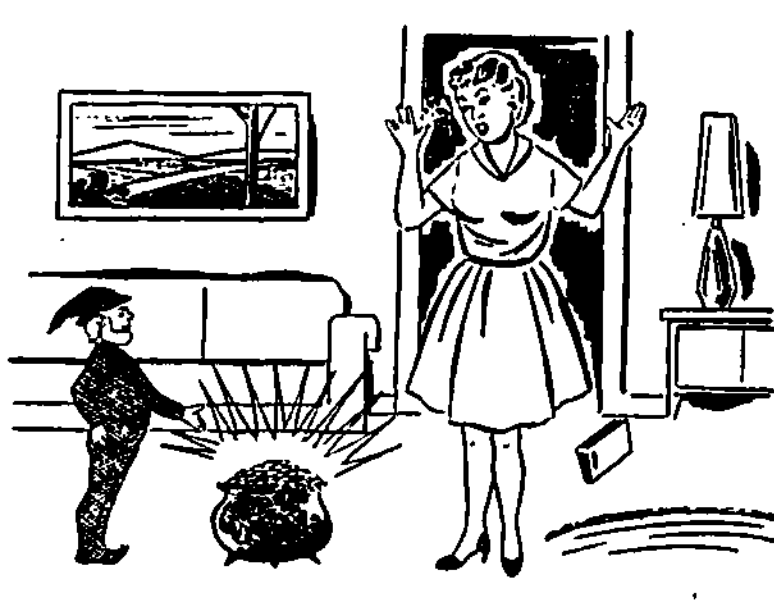

The night was very bright last night with the full moon riding high in the sky, flooding the countryside with a silvery light. The stars seemed brighter than usual, too, as they twinkled in the Milky Way. In fact, the night itself seemed to have a bit of magic in it.

Everything was quiet and still as I sat looking out of the window over the millgreek railing that leads up to our front steps. The railing also took on a dainty fretwork in iron. . . . a sort of stairway for the little folk.

All at once the stillness was shattered. If an instant a small impish figure came dancing gaily along the top of the railing. When the light fell upon him, I could see he was dressed in green from the top of his little pointed cap to the bottom of his turned-up shoes. I blinked in surprise.

"Aye, 'tis a leprechaun," I mused. "Perhaps he has come to divulge some secrets from Erin. Sure, and with St. Patrick's Day so near, 'tis hard to tell what his wee sprits has come to say."

The Farmer went to the door and quietly turned the knob. Being Irish, I was certain The Farmer would understand the lilt of a leprechaun's voice. I did not have much of a chance to think further for in an instant the leprechaun was inside. He peered cautiously into the room. With a light step, he moved noiselessly across the room.

"Ask him where the pot of gold is hidden," I begged of The Farmer.

When I mentioned the pot of gold, the impish fellow in green climbed to the arm of the sofa and was just ready to divulge the secret into my ear, when a loud voice said, "If you plan to go to PTA meeting tonight, you had better be getting ready."

I opened my eyes and there stood The Farmer, already dressed for the occasion.

After blinking a few times, I realized I had dozed off to sleep for a catnap while reading the paper. The leprechaun was a "carry-over" from a story I had read during the day to the second-grade class in school.

"How could you do such a thing?" I asked The Farmer. "I was about to be told where we could find a pot of gold. Now I shall never know."

It is fun to think of the things I could buy with the gold. I am still thinking of the grandfather's clock that I have always had a desire to own. There is the library of books that I would dearly love to have. . . . and what about the new set of dining-room furniture in early American style?

Perhaps it is not so satisfying to have these things. Anticipation and planning can give more joy than owning something.

I remember when I was a young school teacher having my own money for the first time. I dreamed of owning a lovely pair of snakeskin shoes. Finally I bought them. They cost more than other shoes at the time, but I just had to have those shoes. I wore them two or three times and the thrill of having snakeskin shoes was gone. I began asking myself, "Did you buy the shoes to fit your feet or your head?"

So perhaps the things one dreams of owning are not so satisfying as it would seem. I'm glad the leprechaun is gone, with all of his secrets.

Community Property

Lincoln, Neb.

How nice it is to have a City Council of such beneficial proportions that they have seen fit to pass a law making it illegal for motorcycle operators to fail to protect themselves by wearing a crash helmet. After all, the lives of the citizens DO belong to the community, do they not, and what right does a man have to be careless with his life? We sure need a City Council to make certain that individuals exercise proper care with the lives which are not THEIRS, but the community's!

In fact, to make certain that such community property is really made safe, I propose a new ordinance which I trust will be given immediate attention by the City Council. I suggest a law be enacted making it unlawful for a person not to be careful. Little accidents befall persons every day, from slipping in the bathtub to bumping one's head on a door. This has to stop! The community's property is being damaged by such acts, and I think it's high time we started having policemen watch each of us to make certain we are "careful," and to start slapping fines on those of us who show such disregard for our bodies. . . . which the local government so graciously permits us to use.

BUTLER D. SHAFFER

Sutton, Neb.

Senator Curtis has come out for the Hallam plant. After spending $71 million and no results, he still feels more should be spent. Also $5 million was spent for atomic fuel never used. Surely Senator Curtis as a member of the Atomic Energy Committee had a bonafide contract before construction started, that this plant must be in satisfactory operation before all this money was paid out. If not, why not? And where did this great amount of money go to and to whom?

Perhaps taxpayers should question this total project and demand some explanation. Did the workers on this project receive $1.55 an hour, which seems to be Senator Curtis' wage scale for labor in Nebraska? How much more important is this plant than a sewer plant? Nebraska has other means of power which have proven less expensive to put into operation. But without a healthful sewer plant, what business in any city could stay in operation? A sewer plant is a dire necessity to the business expansion of this state and has been too long neglected. Men working on this project are just as vital as any other and should be considered as such on the wage scale.

History Has It

Syracuse, Neb.

I was deeply moved by "Mr. Disgusted's" letter, "No War," in the March 12 Star, which correctly blamed the Democratic party by checking history for waging war against Mr. Wilhelm, Mr. Hitler, Mr. Mussolini, et al.

In support of "Disgusted," that Democratic party caused us to send Marines to China in the Boxer Rebellion and declare war against Spain in the Spanish-American War. Oh, I stand to be corrected. McKinley was a Republican. Anyway, the "War Party" had us killing our own countrymen in the bloodiest, most shameful Civil War. Or was Lincoln a Republican? Let's forget those and go to the Revolutionary War. George Washington was a Federalist. What's that? You say the Federalist party changed its name to the Republican party?

I suppose we shouldn't "check history" that far back. General Eisenhower, supreme commander of the Allied Expeditionary Forces, didn't have anything to do with World War I or World War II. He may have, as president, sent a few Marines to Lebanon to get shot at, but that wasn't a declared war. And, of course, he had nothing to do with the planning of the Bay of Pigs action.

So "Mr. Disgusted" has a valid generalization and I agree with him blindly.

Double Taxes?

Lincoln, Neb.

A man recently reported to me that he bought a new house with a built-in stove and oven and when the house was appraised for assessment, the built-in's were considered a part of the house and the house was assessed accordingly.

Later he was notified that he had not reported his stove on his assessment sheet for taxation. He informed that the stove and oven were built-in and assessed as part of the house. He was told that they had to be reported on his personal assessment sheet. He was told this was the law. This resulted in double taxation on them. I believe such a law is unconstitutional and according to law incriminate the collector of the tax, as duplicate taxation is by law a crime with a penalty of treble damages against the collector.

The assessment sheet for personal property tax purposes includes as well a provision for reporting any improvements to real estate. Remodeling of a kitchen would have to be reported, so naturally one's real estate tax would be raised accordingly, so again it would be double taxation if the stove and oven were built in as part of the remodeling job.

Medicare Becomes Reality Despite Critics

By ROBERT PETERSON

Time passes so quickly. It seems only a few months ago that John F. Kennedy was being inaugurated and in Bostonian accents was proposing a broad medical care program for senior citizens.

The proposal had so many critics it seemed unlikely it would ever be effected. Yet in six years time it has become a reality and, starting next July 1, every American past 65 becomes eligible for this two-part medical care program.

Plan A offers the individual up to 60 days of hospital care, with the patient paying only the first $40 of the charges. Thereafter he can get an additional 30 days of hospitalization at a flat $10 a day.

Patients who are ill, or recuperating from illness, but who do not require hospitalization can, beginning January 1, 1967, get care in an accredited nursing home for 20 days at no cost, and an additional 80 days at only $5 daily.

Plan B is aimed at helping elders with other medical expenses. Those past 65 are urged to apply to their nearest Social Security office — before March 31 — for a supplemental medical insurance policy costing just $3 monthly. Under this plan the enrollee will pay the first $50 annually covering doctors visits, drugs, X-rays, etc., but will pay only 20% of additional costs thereafter.

There has been such vast publicity in newspapers, radio and TV urging elders to apply for this insurance by March 31, that it would seem only hermits could miss the message.

The nation's anti-poverty agency has made grants totaling several million dollars for "Operation Medicare Alert." Critics of government spending will be interested in knowing that this agency sends to news desks across the country formal announcements every time a grant is made.

I've received several hundred of these releases the past few weeks. The other day, for instance, a batch of 35 separate releases arrived, weighing nearly a pound. Each release is similar except for the name of the recipient agency.

The top release today says that Licking County, Ohio, has been awarded a $6,141 War on Poverty grant to be used in employing elderly persons to inform other aged persons to sign up for health insurance by March 31. The next one says that Wichita, Kansas, has been given a $19,082 grant, etc.

All this paperwork and expense makes one wonder why in the name of common sense Congress doesn't just extend the deadline for six months or so. The relatively few elders who may forget to enroll can surely be brought into coverage later without imperiling the actuarial soundness of this insurance plan.

Funny thing. That's just what they're thinking of doing. Have just received a news release from the U.S. Senate Committee on Aging informing me that Senators George A. Smathers, D-Fla. and Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., have now introduced legislation to give senior citizens a six-month extension of time to sign up for the voluntary medical insurance provided under Medicare.

Omaha (P)—Lt. Gov. Philip C. Sorensen, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, Wednesday will attend the first in a series of Nebraska neighborhood coffees. The first four coffees will be in Omaha.

Cunningham's Constituents Polled On Diverse Issues

Washington—Rep. Glenn Cunningham is polling constituents in the Second District about their views on the war in Viet Nam, increased trade to Eastern Europe, foreign aid and other issues.

In an accompanying letter, the Republican congressman told poll participants: "Your opinions will be of great value in directing my efforts in your behalf in the months ahead."

Cunningham said "It is our job to work together for a better and a stronger America."

Among questions: What should we do about Viet Nam? Withdraw entirely? Continue present policy? Increase our military effort? Should we increase trade with Eastern Europe and Soviet Russia as the President has suggested?

Should the administration demand that Great Britain and other U.S. allies stop delivering supplies to North Viet Nam ports?

Do you favor the administration's plan to reinstate the 10% telephone tax and increase withholding taxes?

Should we change the minimum wage law to increase the rate from $1.25 to $1.75 per hour and expand coverage to farm workers, hotels, restaurants and certain other businesses?

Have you felt the effect of an increase in the cost of living over the course of the last year? Very much? A little? Not at all?

City Council Waives Yard Requirements For Sorority

By BOB SCHREFF
Star Staff Writer

The City Council Monday granted a waiver of rear yard requirements to Delta Delta Delta which will allow the sorority to build an addition to their chapter house at 1601 R St.

Tri Delta house corporation members said the addition will cost an estimated $100,000 and will increase the house capacity from 37 to 52 girls. The waiver will also allow the sorority to go ahead with a $20,000 remodeling of the present structure, which suffered extensive smoke damage from a recent fire.

The sorority's application for a building permit was refused earlier because the proposed addition would project into the required rear yard area, a violation of the zoning ordinance.

Upheld By Board

This decision by the city building inspection division was upheld by the Board of Zoning Appeals on a 3-2 vote.

However, the council overruled the board's action and granted the waiver, 5-1, "to permit reasonable use of the land because of unusual circumstances," noting that the "conditions were not created by the owner".

The only dissenting council member, John Comstock, said he voted against the appeal because to grant it would be inconsistent with other council action on similar requests.

Turned Down

He recalled that the council had turned down the application of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity for the waiver of front, side and rear yard requirements in order to build a new chapter house at 1645 R.

That council decision, appealed by the fraternity, was upheld by the State Supreme Court in October.

Comstock said the council has been "picking and choosing and playing favorites" with each individual appeal as they come up for hearing. He called for a close look at the present ordinance to see if the light and air concepts need to be changed.

No Objections

The Tri Delta application said that adjacent property owners did not object to the proposed addition and that the University of Nebraska has offered to provide off-street parking for the sorority.

The sorority said it asked for the waiver on the grounds "that the expansion and development of the university and its operations, and the ever increasing load of student population has resulted in practical difficulties in the existing house structure and its effective operation."

In other action, an ordinance was introduced on first reading which would allow minors to work in an establishment holding an alcoholic liquor license, but would prohibit them from selling, serving or handling liquor.

Now Working

Council members have noted that minors are now working as kitchen help and waiters at places licensed to sell alcoholic beverages in violation of the present ordinance prohibiting anyone under 21 from such employment.

The ordinance would also allow persons 16 and under to remain in premises licensed for the consumption of alcoholic liquor after 9 p.m. if accompanied by a parent or guardian. The present law excludes minors 16 and under after 9 p.m.

Council vice chairman Mrs. Helen Boosalis said she wants the ordinance amended to raise the age for both employment and frequenting to 18.

Mayor Dean Petersen told the council Monday he favors putting on the May election ballot a general obligation bond issue which would authorize the construction of a city off-street parking facility. He proposed that the bonds be paid off with parking revenue fees if authorization could be obtained from the Legislature.

However, Mrs. Boosalis and Comstock said legal aspects of the proposal should be studied before working to bring it to a November vote. The deadline for placing issues on the May ballot is too close to submit the parking proposal now, they said.

Acting Director of Parks and Recreation Jim Ager told the council that green fee and membership receipts for Pioneers and Holmes golf courses totaled $6,100 over the past weekend.

At-Grade Crossing For 56th, Cornhusker Okay

... 'ONLY PRACTICAL THING'

The City Council Monday indicated it would agree to an at-grade intersection for 56th and Cornhusker Highway as "the only practical thing to do."

The city, Lancaster County, Havelock businessmen and the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce had previously gone on record as favoring a divided grade separation for the five-legged intersection, where Cornhusker, Havelock Ave., Superior St. and highways U.S. 6 and 77 now merge.

But State Engineer John Hossack told the council Monday that the state would pay up to $275,000 for an at-grade intersection but would not put up an additional $300,000 for part of the estimated $1 million cost of a grade separation.

The state proposal also includes Superior St. by-pass routes to Cornhusker near the Holiday Inn motel site and to U.S. 77 further north of the present intersection.

Hossack said the state would pay an additional $30,000 for the Highway 77 tie-in. As part of the package the city would meet the cost

The hired caterer weaves through the gay and crowded room. (I am convinced the reason he weaves is because he's nipping the gin on the sly.)

Anyway, he weaves through the guests. The tray held high above his head.

"Martini? Scotch? Bourbon?"

He indicates the choice.

The lady says: "Oh, dear, what shall I have?" She says: "You wouldn't have a chilled glass of slivowitz, would you? With a twist of lemon?"

Well, the lides of March are here. And many a cocktail Caesar is being stabbed with the olive fork.

It's one of the major endeavors of our times to give a cocktail party.

I don't mean just having a few neighbors in for a beer. I mean an all-out thing. Where the room is too crowded. And everyone stands and stands until their feet are killing them.

And cars have to be parked two blocks from the house.

And by the time the hors d'oeuvre are decided on, host and hostess are not speaking to each other.

It's a success story.

We've looked into this recently and decided this is the time to see people at their worst.

"Just a plain, iced glass of slivowitz. With a dash of ver-bena," says the lady who's just arrived. "Oh, if you don't have it, please don't run out to the store. I don't mind a martini."

(The hostess could kill her. This lady has been on straight squareface since she was weaned.)

"Would you like sherry?" asks the hostess. "Or we have some tequila."

"Maybe I'll just have tomato juice," says the lady brightly.

This testing of the hosting kitchen supplies is the game. If you've got it, you win. If you're out of it, the guest wins.

Here's a Philadelphia scientist who discovers that you in the cities live a greenhouse existence. (And that's the reason for the gin, son.)

He said: "City life is a

It seems to be fairly chic these days to ask for drinks without alcohol. But you can make it tough for the hostess by asking for odd flavoring.

"Just a glass of any kind of juice. Tomato or whatever you've got." Then you say: "Could you put just a soup-con of vanilla in it?" (No-body has vanilla these days of instant cake mix.)

Or you ask: "Would you by any chance have some flat sparkling water? Just a n y kind of soda that's got the fizz out of it."

Since the hostess has carefully restocked her soda — thrown out the old — it's a cinch you've got her there.

The main idea is to ask for something the hostess wouldn't have short of turning out a banquet for a Saudi Arabian Prince.

"Anything will do, really! Just a plain glass of arak with a fresh date in it will be fine."

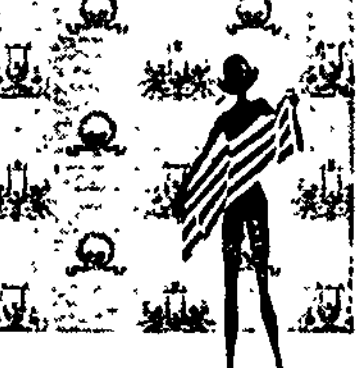

Or—

"You know me, my dear. I'm not at all choosy. If you have any Portuguese wine—with a drop of cod liver oil—that would be just right."

That's the way cocktail parties have been going lately. Same weaving caterer. Same glasses. Same guests. Same odd requests. And all hands wind up on gin. It's the hot house living.

Road Safety Improvement Jobs OK'd

Washington — Rep. Glenn Cunningham announced that two highway safety spot improvement projects have been authorized for the Second Congressional District by the Bureau of Public Roads.

In Douglas County, at the junction of 90th and Blondo, urban improvement of a hazardous intersection will be undertaken at a cost of $1,000; federal share $500.

In Washington County, on U.S. 30 at the crossing of the C&NW railroad tracks in Blair at the intersection of U.S. 30 and U.S. 73, preliminary engineering will be undertaken for installation of two additional flashing light signals to augment two existing signals at a cost of $500; federal share $450.

Meanwhile, Cunningham announced that he has introduced in the Congress legislation to require that motor buses manufactured in the future be equipped with seat belts for each passenger.

About milk shortages and pricing . . .

How can the supply of oranges double the value of Milk Product?

Fear of an impending milk shortage has reopened public hearings to determine if higher price supports to dairy farmers can avert short supply.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture public hearing affecting Nebraska, Iowa, Colorado and other Midwestern and Western states is scheduled for March 10th at Denver, Colorado.

Emergency Measures?

Farm leaders are seeking a boost in the support price of milk. Milk production in 1965 dropped one billion pounds below 1964, and milk is vital to public health.

Recent increases in pricing have made no provision for increases in costs other than the cost of milk. And like every other business, the milk business is faced with increased costs beyond the price of raw product.

Research indicates, moreover, that milk and other food products must require much more protection in the future than in the past. Ultimately, the processing of food products must be based upon expert knowledge, rather than low bidding on private labels . . . or on competitive bidding with only token quality requirements.

Roberts 2+ Daily C Offers More than Double Nutritional Protection

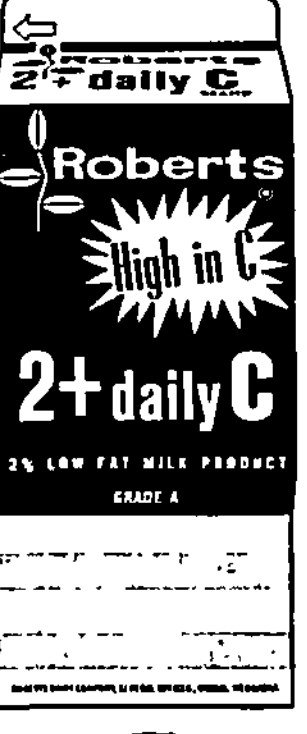

The Deep South has been the scene of a deep freeze for the growers of oranges, grapefruit, lemons and the like. These products are in short supply to the extent of this freeze.

Under present conditions, the actual price of a half gallon of 2+ Daily C may amount to no more than would be required to pay for equivalent vitamin C in citrus fruit, depending of course upon the type and variety purchased.

One eight-ounce glass of 2+ Daily C supplies as much or more vitamin C than one average size orange or glass of fruit juice. In addition, 2+ Daily C supplies a bonus benefit of 9 essential vitamins and minerals which would be costly to duplicate.

There is no single, total nutritional equivalent to Roberts 2+ Daily C in the market.

For large families, the double value of 2+ Daily C can affect considerable savings in the overall food budget, while providing the economy of health protection. Double value is also double pleasure . . . Roberts 2+ Daily C is quite delicious.

Brand Names Okayed In-State Specifications

The State Standards Committee said Monday state departments have the right to specify brand names in setting standards for equipment contracts.

The committee rejected the contentions of officials of the Construction Service Equipment Co., Omaha, which submitted an apparent low bid of $85,650 to supply the Roads Department with six tractor-type loaders.

The standards committee ruled that the Omaha firm's bid did not meet specifications and awarded the contract to Fehrs Tractor and Equipment Co., Omaha, for $96,244.

The Roads Department's maintenance division had specified that the loaders must contain engines manufactured by Allis-Chalmers, International Harvester, Caterpillar or General Motors.

Loaders supplied by Construction Service Equipment Co. would contain J. I. Case engines.

Lawrence Rose of Lincoln, a sales representative for the Omaha firm, told the standards committee his company feels it is unfair to specify brand names unless the department can pinpoint weaknesses in rejected brands.

State Purchasing Agent Willard Wells said the department "draws on its past experiences" when it specifies brands.

Non-Profit Group Formed To Put ETV In All Colleges

A non-profit corporation was formed Monday to extend the use of educational television to every university, college and junior college in Nebraska.

The corporation, labeled the Nebraska Educational Television Council for Higher Education, Inc., of Lincoln, was organized following a series of meetings of educators during the past nine months.

Presidents of 24 institutions of higher education were listed as incorporators, and University of Nebraska Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin was designated the corporation's registered agent.

First in U.S.
A corporation spokesman, Dr. M. Scheffel Pierce, said an ETV network embracing all Nebraska universities and colleges would be the first of its kind in the nation.

Dr. Pierce, faculty coordinator for instructional television at the University of Nebraska, said some programs pegged for higher education purposes will be beamed over the state ETV network next fall.

The ETV network now serves more than 100 elementary and secondary schools.

Dr. Pierce said the institutions of higher education plan to utilize the state network for the time being, although the Federal Communications Commission has been asked to reserve channels for a possible separate network for colleges and universities in the future.

Recorded
He said higher education programs will be transmitted over the network during non-program hours and recorded by the universities and colleges for later use.

Incorporators of the new organization included Hardin, State ETV Commission Executive Secretary Jack McBride and the presidents of Omaha University, the four state colleges, Nebraska Wesleyan University, Duchesne College of the Sacred Heart, College of St. Mary, Concordia Teachers College, Creighton University, Dana College, Doane College, Hastings College, Midland Lutheran College, John F. Kennedy College, Union College, Hiram Scott College, York College and the junior colleges at North Platte, Norfolk, Scottsbluff, McCook and Fairbury.

10 Candidates Filed Too Late

About 10 candidates filed too late for their names to appear on the May 10 primary ballot for public office, the secretary of state's office reported Monday.

The deadline was 5 p.m. Friday. The late candidates were being notified by mail.

All of the late filings involved public power directorships.

ABBY

he is accustomed to deep water

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our son joined the navy two years ago. He is now assigned to submarine duty off the coast of Japan. He keeps sending us pictures, and everyone we show them to says he looks like he has had one too many. The one today really set me to wondering. He is standing between two Japanese girls who look like they're holding him up. Please don't think I am an old fogey who expects her 21-year-old son to be an angel, because I'm not. I thought of writing to the commander of his ship, but I don't know his name. Is there some way I can get someone over there to keep an eye on him so he doesn't get into any trouble? He's always been such a good boy.

PARAGOULD, ARK. DEAR PARAGOULD: If there's anything a sailor, assigned to submarine duty off the coast of Japan has plenty of, it's people "keeping an eye on him to see that he doesn't get into trouble." Don't worry, Dad. By this time your son is probably an expert on handling himself in deep water.

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor whose husband flies for a commercial air line. She has lots of problems and comes over here to talk to me because she has no one else to talk to. She says it does her a world of good. I have a few problems myself, Abby, but I have never been the type who could confide in anyone, so I just keep my troubles to myself and work them out as best I can. I know this neighbor is disappointed because I don't confide in her the way she does in me. She probably thinks I don't trust her. Is there any way I can let her know I DO trust her, but it's not my nature to tell people my private business?

THE SILENT ONE DEAR SILENT: Remain silent. He who accuses himself accuses himself. And beware of the one who "honors" you with his full confidence, expecting that it gives him the right to yours. A "gift" confers no rights.

The bidding:
Opening lead — four of spades.

Far be it from me to foist my views upon an unwilling public, but I have had a theory for low these many years which finds little support among the players I know.

It is my contention that there's no such animal as a brilliant bridge player. But before the bricks come flying this way, let me explain what I mean.

Bridge is a game of reasoning and logic. There are other factors, no doubt, but basically, the player who thinks soundly is the one who winds up with the dough.

If a bid or a play is correct in a given situation, then how can it be brilliant? A hand may be well bid or well played, but, from the standpoint of par, that is expected, and the player who meets that expectation deserves no special credit.

Sometimes a player makes the wrong bid or play and it comes out right. If this player makes wrong bids or plays repeatedly, he is working against percentage and the odds will eventually catch up with him.

But if his occasional triumph can be classed as brilliance, then I want no part of it. Take today's hand. West led a spade which East won with the ace, South playing the king on it. East naturally assumed that the king was a singleton, and, mindful of dummy's jack of spades, shifted to a club. South discarded his other spade, later lost a trump trick, and thus made five hearts.

Had South played the three of spades on the opening lead, East undoubtedly would have returned a spade for West to ruff and South would have gone down one.

I admire South's play all right. East was marked by the bidding with six spades, and a ruff was therefore imminent. By dropping the king, South thought he might fool East and thus save a trick — which he did.

But brilliant? No. South made the right play, that's all.

CF Honors Presented

At a recognition ceremony held Monday evening at the Lincoln Center, members of the Camp Fire Girls Horizon Club for senior girls were honored for outstanding achievements.

Recipients of the Wohelo Medallion, highest national award of the organization, were Barbara Ramsey, Natalie Vakiner, Carol Hadfield and Joleen Sheaff.

Receiving certificates of merit for more than 800 hours of volunteer service to the community were Carol Hadfield, Joleen Sheaff, Joan Robison and Jean Erickson, and honored with 10-year service awards were Jean Erickson, Carol Hadfield, Pat Kling, Barbara Ramsey, Joan Robison, Bonnie Romisch, Natalie Vakiner, Patty Vandersall and Martha Van Sickle.

Addressing the 80 Horizon Club members on the topic, "Volunteer Community Service," was Mrs. Thomas R. Pansing.

As a part of the Camp Fire Girls National Birthday Week observance, March 13 to 19, past presidents and honorary members of the Lincoln Council will be honored at a 4 o'clock to 5 o'clock program Wednesday at the Lincoln Center.

Miss Cathy Coleman will be mistress of ceremonies, and a program of songs, skits and talks will be given by representatives of the four age-levels of Camp Fire Girls. Members of Mrs. Dean McMurtry's Wi Tan Ko group will serve refreshments.

TEA honors guests and new officers

In observation of Federation Day, the Lincoln Woman's Club entertained officers of the state federation, District I officers and representatives of clubs in the district at its March meeting, Monday afternoon.

Pictured at the tea, which followed an address by Miss Ruth Ebmeier of Laurel, state first vice president, are (from the left) Mrs. Harold Brugman, Douglas, district director of juniors; Mrs. Alvin Finkle, Syracuse, district treasurer; Mrs. George W. Mechling, club president; Mrs. Arthur Oestmann, Auburn, district second vice president; Mrs. Kenneth McDonnell, Greenwood, district secretary; Miss Ebmeier; Mrs. Fred Naber, Syracuse, district first vice president; and Mrs. Don Kolterman, Seward, state treasurer.

Mrs. R. B. Owens was elected new president of the Lincoln Woman's Club and others named to office were Miss Eleanor Hinman, first vice president; Mrs. George Ventura, second vice president; Mrs. M. W. Mutchler, recording secretary; and board of trustees: Mrs. Mechling, Mrs. Max Lawton, Mrs. R. W. Jackson, Mrs. A. H. Atzenhoffer.

Talk

If there is anything particularly spectacular going on around town we haven't been able to find it. We shifted through the calendar for the current week and came up with a busy weekend for the feminine Greeks—There will be initiation and alumnae banquets all over town during the weekend.

From a strictly social standpoint the weekend to follow—March 26—looks considerably brighter.

And we think the bright spot of the weekend is the 100 Club's 'The Great Society' costume party—We suspect that the clever invitations will inspire some very unique costuming. Not only will there be a display of the poverty, which the Great Society program plans to ease—but, according to the invitation, the party theme also covers 'oriented free-loaders, drop-ins and drop-outs.'

And the party-planning committee includes Mr. and Mrs. Ed Faytinger, chairman; Dr. and Mrs. Ben James, Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Wendt, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Maly, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Trombla and Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Dalton.

Although the social whirl really wasn't whirling in Lincoln the past weekend, it was in Tucson, Ariz., where Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Bell of York entertained at dinner last Saturday evening.

The reason for the party was officially a Sunday, March 13, event—That was Dr. and Mrs. Bell's 50th wedding anniversary. But, as we mentioned before, the celebrating was done on Saturday night when the guest list included Dr. and Mrs. Bell's three children—Mrs. Adna Dobson of Lincoln; Dr. James Bell of York, and Richard Bell of Tacoma, Wash.

Also attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Webster (Frances Pratt of Lincoln and—Pi Phi at Nebraska) of Tucson who, during their residence in York, were neighbors of Dr. and Mrs. Bell. The guest list also included Mr. and Mrs. Webster's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Webster (Ann Jouvenat of Lincoln), and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawrence, all of Tucson.

NEWS

of the suburban areas

The time of year is here when home-makers must add to their list of activities such duties as gardening, watering, and nursing—the latter is usually in the form of first aid duty when someone stumbles over the bicycle, falls off the bicycle, or when a curious member of the family sticks his hand into a bee's nest and pulls out the hand to which one or more welts have been added.

Spring and summer are busy days for the lady of the house but there also is more fun to be had. For instance, the talks across the fence increase as do the neighborhood coffees.

PRAIRIE HILL

Neighbors in the Prairie Hill area gathered for coffee and friendly conversation last Wednesday morning. The coffee hostess was Mrs. Bob Griffin and her guest list included the names of 16 feminine residents of the Prairie Hill neighborhood.

Indeed, spring must be here because this morning we already have received word of a college student who will be arriving in Lincoln for his spring vacation.

Alan Royal Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Smith will be traveling towards home on Wednesday. Alan is a student at Taft School in Watertown, Conn. and will be visiting at his parents home for three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wilcox tell us that their daughter, Marjorie, had a house guest during the past weekend. Barbara Hufker spent Saturday night and Sunday with the Wilcox family before returning to her home in the nearby Havelock area.

FIENE HEIGHTS

A busy weekend has passed and it was more than an exciting one for Mr. and Mrs. Donavon Luedke. The two are Spencer High school alums and as you may recall Spencer High School saw its basketball team competing in the state Class "C" basketball tournament. So there was plenty of rootin' and tootin' and entertaining going on around the Luedke home until Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Luedke had as house guests on Thursday and Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Luedke and their three children, one of whom was a member of the Spencer High School Pep Band. The visitors also brought two other bandmen who enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Donavon Luedke.

KIMBERLY HEIGHTS

Weekend travelers in the Kimberly Heights area were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Frey and daughter, Donna Jean. The two motored to Red Cloud to attend the funeral of Mrs. Frey's uncle, Charles Callahan. While in Red Cloud they were the guests of Mrs. Frey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Callahan. Mrs. Frey and Donna also enjoyed visiting with uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kottman of Ellsworth, Kan. and with Mr. and Mrs. Ted Blackstone of Minneapolis, Kan.

BETHANY PARK HEIGHTS

Besides the usual warmth and closeness a baby brings to his new family, little Cory McAuley Bree has brought a surge of visiting grandparents to the home of

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bree. Following Cory's March 1 arrival, Mrs. Bree's parents made the trip from Laramie, Wyo., on March 6 to govern the household activities of Linda, 3—and John Richard, 5 while Mrs. Bree was hospitalized. Cory's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Bree of Laramie, will be rounding out the family scene with their visit this next weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan D. Farmer entertained St. Mark's newly formulated church fellowship group at their home last Saturday evening. The group of married couples present for the supper and friendly conversation included Mr. and Mrs. Dave Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Eastman, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Kammerer, Mr. and Mrs. Don Copas, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Engberg, Mr. and Mrs. Merton Norton and, of course, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Farmer.

Speaker

Dr. Don Clifton of the University of Nebraska, associate director of Nebraska Human Resources Research, will be guest speaker at the Tuesday evening meeting of Prescott PTA.

Dr. Clifton will speak on the topic, "Who's Pressuring Johnny?" Mrs. William Weyhrauch is chairman of the 7:30 o'clock program.

REAL ESTATE TIPS

Q. Why should I list my home? I am advertising it on my own with lots of activity.

A. Ask the next person that wants to see your home the following questions: What is your income? How much do you pay for your home? How much do you have? "YOUR REALTOR" Do you have the closing costs? How's your credit? Does your wife work? What size monthly payments can you make? How long have you had your job? Are you making payments on a car or furniture? Your REALTOR knows each prospect's position before he shows them your home. He is fairly certain he will qualify. You're WASTING valuable time. List it today.

LAFF-A-DAY

THE GIRLS

"Happy anniversary! I bet you thought I forgot that it was two weeks ago last Wednesday!"

"What I hate about dietetics is after you've finally squeezed into one, something you want is always on the stove."

The Mail Bag

"I disagree with your statement concerning Jack Dempsey's status in World War I," Paul Owens of Arcadia writes. "Jack was 22 years old in 1917."

"I was stationed at Great Lakes, Ill., in August of 1917 and Jack appeared at a Field Day on the training station and assured the sailors he would soon be 'in there fighting with you.'"

"He later had his photo taken holding an air hammer against the side of a ship in the Hog Island Shipyards and that was his participation in World War I."

COMMENT—Dempsey was not in World War I because he was never called by his local draft board. In his book, "Dempsey," written with Bob Considine and Bill Slocum, Dempsey tells of trying to enlist in the Navy at Great Lakes. "Kennedy (Commander Jack) got out the papers," Dempsey said. "Kearns filled them in for me. I signed them. Kearns took over the job of sending them in. They were never found."

"Loud mouth Clay will probably be deferred such as Mickey Mantle and a lot of other prominent athletes," Owens continues. "Too bad we don't have a few more like Bob Feller and Ted Williams who set a fine example as Americans first and athletes second."

COMMENT—Mantle has been deferred because of osteomyelitis, a bone disease that will keep anyone out of military service. Joe Namath, another prominent athlete who has been deferred, has a bad knee. If Namath's knee folds on him in a football game, no one gets hurt except Namath. If it folds on him in Viet Nam, his entire unit could be effected. This is one reason athletes can compete in contact sports, but are considered unfit for military service.

Who Runs Big Eight?

A Lincoln housewife, commenting on the Big Eight ruling against use of its school's stadiums by the pros, asks, "Is the Big Eight Commissioner so powerful that he alone rules Big Eight athletics and use of property at Big Eight schools? To whom does he answer?"

COMMENT—The Big Eight Commissioner must answer to the athletic directors and faculty representatives, but his thoughts on most subjects are given careful consideration by his governors. Little ado was made over pro competition before Wayne Duke became Big Eight Commissioner.

"Being an avid football fan, I was pleasantly surprised to find when I moved to Nebraska that almost everyone I met was a football fan, too," she continues. "If we can't have the pros, how about a freshman game?"

COMMENT—Nebraska already plays two freshman games a year at Memorial Stadium.

Beavers For Marquette

"Thank you for your column today (Friday). 'We'll Take Little Guys' as it is wonderful," Mrs. Curtis Phillips of Beaver Crossing writes. "I'll admit we Beavers are so close to Lincoln we make the nightly trip home, but we do patronize the businesses."

"Some of the biggest fans in the Marquette section (at the state tournament) were the Beaver coaches and team and other Beaver fans. I was told that Marquette fans cheered the Beavers as they entered the gym to join their cheering section. We are proud to be cheering for the team that beat us in the regional finals."

COMMENT—Apparently the Beavers picked the right team to back as Marquette took an easy win over Elgin St. Boniface in the Class D championship game.

Phipps' Entry Easy Winner

... AQUEDUCT SEASON OPENS

New York (AP)—Impressive, the No. 1 sprinter of the Phipps' family's strong contingent of 3-year-olds, lived up to his name Monday, easily winning the $28,450 Swift Stakes as the New York thoroughbred racing season opened at Aqueduct before a chilled crowd of 46,593.

The Fd'le Nely—trained son of Court Martial—High Voltage, winner of three of his four previous starts, chalked up his third stakes success of the year by seven lengths over Richard D. Bokum II's Quinta. The Tac Ranch's Keen Kutter, an outsider in the field of eight, was beaten a nose for runner-up honors. Handsome Boy was another 1½ lengths back in fourth place.

Under the black silks of Ogden Phipps, Impressive reeled off the six furlongs in 1:19.2-5 and never was pressed once Kenny Knapp stuck the colt's blazed head in front with a little more than a quarter mile remaining. He steadily pulled away in the stretch to add the 65th running of the Swift to previous stakes triumphs in the Pimlico and the Hibiscus at Hialeah Park.

His victories this year also include a sprint decision over the more highly regarded Buckpasser from the same stable.

All leading up to the May 7 Kentucky Derby in which Impressive likely will be running mate for Buckpasser as the ace of the stable hooks up with Graustark for the first time.

In earning $18,492.50, Impressive paid $3.00, $2.40 and $2.20. Quinta, also beaten by Impressive in the Pimlico Handicap, returned $4 and $2.20. Keen Kutter was $2.20 to show.

Keen Kutter was the first out of the gate, but the field hadn't gone very far when

JOCKEY INJURED IN RACE MISHAP

New York (AP)—Larry Loughry, 23-year-old apprentice jockey, suffered a fractured right ankle when his mount broke down in the second race at the opening of Aqueduct Monday.

The horse, Thystar, suffered a broken shoulder and was destroyed.

NYU, BYU GO TO SEMIS

Wichita, Temple Suffer Defeat

... NIT BASKETBALL

New York (AP)—Bruce Kaplan sank four free throws in overtime, helping New York University to a 90-84 basketball victory over second-seeded Wichita Monday night and sending the Violets into the semifinals of the National Invitation Tournament for the third straight year.

Top-seeded Brigham Young preceded NYU into Thursday's semifinal doubleheader, defeating Temple 90-78 in the opener behind the clutch scoring of guards Jeff Congdon and Dick Nemelka.

Brigham Young will play the winner of Tuesday night's Army-San Francisco game while NYU will meet the winner of the Villanova-Boston College contest.

Kaplan's free throws were half the points the Violets scored in the overtime period, all eight coming from the foul line. At the same time NYU held Wichita to a lay-up by Jamie Thompson.

Kaplan sank his first two free throws with 3:47 left, giving the Violets an 84-82 lead. Mal Graham added another pair before Thompson scored with 1:51 left.

With Graham directing, the Violets held the ball for the next 78 seconds before Richie Dyer was fouled and made both free tosses. Kaplan sealed the victory with his other two points from the line with 25 seconds to go.

Graham sent the game into overtime by hitting a 15-foot jump shot with 31 seconds to play in regulation time. The Wheatshockers' Warren Armstrong tried to pull it out with two shots in the last half minute, but both fell short.

The 82-82 tie was the 14th deadlock in the second half, which saw the lead change hands 18 times.

Stan McKenzie scored 29 points for the Violets, 17-9, who never have won an NIT championship in seven previous attempts.

Armstrong topped the Shockers with 24 points. Wichita, which tied for second in the Missouri Valley Conference, never has won a game in four visits to the NIT.

The Cougars, runners-up in the Western Athletic Conference, trailed at halftime 40-38 but caught up to Temple and went ahead in the first seven minutes of the second half. They had a 58-56 lead when the 6-foot-1 Congdon triggered a spurt that carried them to a 67-58 margin, their biggest

Gardner Named To North Squad

Wichita, Kan. (AP)—James Ware of Oklahoma City University, Dub Malaise of Arizona Tech, Fred Lewis of Arizona State and Chuck Gardner of Colorado were named Monday players for a North-South college all-star basketball game to be played here April 2.

Ware, Malaise and Lewis were named by South Coach Gary Thompson of Wichita State University.

North Coach Ted Owens of the University of Kansas announced Gardner's selection.

McBean Fined By Pirate Head

Pittsburgh (AP)—The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette reported that Manager Harry Walker of the Pittsburgh Pirates fined pitcher Al McBean $25 for arriving a half hour late at training camp at Fort Myers, Fla., on Monday.

"Next time it will be $50," the newspaper quoted Walker as telling McBean, "and the time after that $100."

McBean, the Post-Gazette said, explained his tardiness was due to car trouble. However, the paper said, Walker told the pitcher:

"You could have telephoned. Or start out a lot earlier. This goes for all the players."

SUPERIOR COURT RULES NO LIQUOR

Atlanta, Ga. (AP)—A Superior Court judge ruled Monday that a private club cannot be established at the Atlanta Stadium and that liquor cannot be sold there.

Judge Durwood T. Pye said the Stadium Authority is restricted in its powers because of restrictive clauses in the property deeds. The property was turned over to the authority by the Housing Authority for recreation purposes, the judge said.

since an 11-2 advantage in the early minutes.

Congdon traded jump shots with the Owls' Jim Williams, then scored a three-point play with a driving layup and free throw and passed off to Jim Eakins on a fast break for another field goal.

With the 6-foot-8 Williams doing most of the work, the Owls threatened to catch up. But, with 3:20 left and Brigham Young leading 74-69, the 6-foot Nemelka took over. In the next minute and 20 seconds Nemelka dropped in two field goals and two free throws, putting the game out of Temple's reach.

Nemelka finished with 27 points and Congdon 22 for the Cougars, the NIT champs in 1951 whose record now is 18-5. Williams poured in 38 points for the Owls, who beat Virginia Tech 88-73 in an opening round game but now close their season at 21-7.

The final two semifinalists will be decided Tuesday night when Army plays San Francisco and Villanova meets Boston College.

Grant, Marquette Give West, Central Publicity

... CLASS C, D PREP RATINGS

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Eastern Nebraska schools have dominated the Class A and B basketball races, Grant and Marquette give the west and central areas a claim for recognition in the Class C and D ranks.

EXHIBITS—Greater Nebraska Home, Sports and Travel Show, Pershing Auditorium.

Grant's Class C champions, winners of 18 straight en route to the title, employed speed as their chief weapon.

The small Plainsmen chopped bigger foes down to size with a pressing defense and an attack which featured excellent shooting.

Finishing No. 2 in the final ratings in Class C is Bertrand, loser only to Grant in 26 games.

The western clubs could play major roles in the 1966-67 race.

Grant will build around Marlin Terwilliger and Richard Salsman from its championship lineup while Bertrand has 6-6 Barry Sandstrom and 6-4 Dennis Duff coming back from its powerful club.

Regular season leader University High drops to No. 5 in the final chart while Sterling and Franklin used fine district showings to enter the top ten.

Marquette, unranked prior to the tourney series, avenged all three of its regular-season losses in its drive to the championship in Class D.

Finishing right behind the Cubs in the final standings were the three teams they whipped in the state meet—Elgin St. Boniface Sprague-Martell and Cairo.

De Witt, edged by Marquette in regional play, heads the four non-tourney teams on the chart. The Panthers split during the season Class C's ninth-ranked Sterling outfit.

Nebraska Prep Ratings

By Don Forsythe

Class C

- 1—Grant (24-2)
- 2—Bertrand (25-1)
- 3—Loup City (18-5)
- 4—Pawnee City (21-5)
- 5—University High (13-7)
- 6—Fullerton (17-4)
- 7—Seward Concordia (19-2)
- 8—Spencer (21-3)
- 9—Sterling (19-3)
- 10—Franklin (18-4)

Comment—Grant's small, speedy entry and Bertrand's big quiet gave western part of the state its best representation in years. Champions finished with 18 straight wins.

Class D

- 1—Marquette (25-3)
- 2—Elgin St. Boniface (24-3)
- 3—Sprague-Martell (17-5)
- 4—Cairo (23-1)
- 5—Overton (23-3)
- 6—Sutherland (20-4)
- 7—De Witt (18-4)
- 8—Snyder (21-1)
- 9—Rising City (20-1)
- 10—Lawrence (17-2)

Comment—Champions were unranked prior to tourney play, but avenged all losses en route to title. Sprague-Martell was another tourney surprise, giving champs most serious argument in state meet.

Players Side With Koufax, Drysdale In Feud With LA

Vero Beach, Fla. (AP)—Ron Fairly of the Los Angeles Dodgers was discussing the Sandy Koufax-Drysdale training situation, and as he spoke it almost seemed as if he were dictating a personal letter of support to his two teammates.

"I'm sure they're concerned about how the players' feel," Fairly said Monday. "I'm sure they've thought about what we're thinking—Sandy in particular because he's that kind of a guy."

"I don't think they have a great deal to worry about as far as our feelings are concerned because we're a much closer team than most. I guess they might feel if they signed and then came down here, we might snub them."

"But that won't happen. Nothing is going to change our opinion of them."

The two ace pitchers reportedly are holding out for a $1 million package for three years.

Fairly's remarks were the most elaborate but pitcher Claude Osteen and even Manager Walt Alton agreed to comment on the touchy subject as the exhibition phase of the spring training season continued with Koufax and Drysdale 3,000 miles away.

And, as the players talked, there was no doubt they were pulling for the two pitchers.

"I'd like to see them sign and get down here and help us," said Fairly. "But I'm on the other side too. Every good player should get what he thinks he can. I don't think it's a case of them wanting to leave baseball. Baseball's been pretty good to them."

"I think it's just a case of their wanting to get what they want. I hope they get it."

Osteen, who likely will draw the opening day pitching assignment in the event Koufax and Drysdale remain unsigned, said he realized he was on a spot now but had "expected to carry a lot of the load anyway."

"If they don't show up we're all on the spot," he said. "We know how many games they can win while

Willie Mays' second exhibition homer in two days and a three-run blast by rookie Willie Brown powered the San Francisco Giants to a 5-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs Monday.

The Pittsburgh Pirates won their fourth straight spring game, trimming St. Louis 5-1 with the help of a 450-foot, three-run homer by Roberto Clemente.

Seventh inning homers by Al Kaline and Dick McAuliffe gave Detroit its third victory in a row, a 4-3 nod over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Atlanta

Bobby Richardson's two-out infield single in the ninth scored Frank Fernandez, giving the New York Yankees a 5-4 verdict over Boston, former NU hurler Stan Bahnsen was the winner.

Ex-Yankee Phil Linn drove in three runs in Philadelphia's 5-3 victory over Minnesota.

The Chicago White Sox snapped the New York Mets' victory streak at two, winning 4-1 as southpaw Tommy John sparked with three hitless innings. Home runs by Gordie Coleman and Vada Pinson lifted Cincinnati past Houston 4-2.

Cleveland rocked left-hander George Brunet for four runs in the first inning and whipped the California Angels 5-2.

2 Teams Surprising In NIT Basketball

New York (AP)—Two basketball teams that have traveled farther than expected with their big wheels missing will try to keep moving on their journeys of surprise success Tuesday night in the National Invitation Tournament.

Army, written off as an NIT possibility after losing Mike Silliman in January, takes on San Francisco in the first game of the quarter-final doubleheader at Madison Square Garden. Boston College, minus John Austin, meets Villanova in the second game.

Silliman, the brawny muscle and heart of the Cadet team, was disabled by a severe knee injury two-thirds through the regular season. But Army took five of its seven remaining games, won an NIT berth with a 16-6 record, and knocked off Manhattan 71-66 in the opening round last Saturday.

Austin, a smooth-moving guard with a 25-point scoring average, was sidelined with a foot injury suffered Feb. 25. But the Eagles won their two remaining games finishing 20-4, and tripped Louisville 96-90 in triple overtime Saturday.

Army is rugged and aggressive, with team balance and all the spirit it needs. But the West Pointers have no height to match the San Francisco Dons, who scored impressively over Penn State 89-77 in the first round.

Army's tallest starter is 6-foot-3, its tallest sub 6-5. San Francisco's front line is composed of Erwin Mueller 6-8, Joe Ellis 6-6 and Dennis Black 6-5. These three did the job at both ends of the floor against Penn State.

Steve Adelman, a quick-shooting sophomore, has become Boston College's scoring ace in Austin's absence. The Eagles also have a tough center in 6-8, 200-pound Willie Wolters. Villanova comes as close as possible to being a one-man team. Bill Melchioni runs the Wildcats, scores the points and makes the vital play. The 6-1 guard got 33 points as the villa knocked out defending champion St. John's Saturday.

Bobby Hull Applauded At Meeting

Ottawa (AP)—Bobby Hull's record-setting 51st goal was applauded in the Commons Monday.

Douglas Alkenbrack referred to the Chicago Black Hawk star as "that great Canadian" and said he felt sure that all MPs would join in congratulating Hull on his National Hockey League record for goals scored in one season.

Alkenbrack, in whose Southern Ontario constituency the "Golden Jet" resides, brought the matter up as a question of privilege. He said the star left winger had set a new season's mark "and other records supplementary thereto."

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux said, smiling, that Alkenbrack's question of privilege "has been noted by the House, and we all appreciate the interest that he takes in this matter."

Members on all sides banged their desks in applause.

Cubs-Angels Feud Brewing Over Close-Pitch Incidents

Chicago (AP)—The Chicago Cubs have a feud brewing involving California Angels' pitcher Jack Sanford, the Chicago American said Monday in a story by baseball writer Jim Enright from Palm Springs, Calif.

In the wake of the Cubs' 3-2 exhibition loss to the Angels Sunday, Manager Leo Durocher was quoted by Enright:

"Sanford should be real proud of himself, unloading on a 20-year-old kid pitcher who was trying to earn his berth. Our bench called him every possible name to let him know just how gutless we felt he is."

He threw at Ken Holtzman, but you didn't see him throwing at anybody else, did you? He didn't want any part of anybody who's handy with his dukes."

The story said the Holtzman-Sanford incident was the second of the game. The first was Willie Smith's charge out of the batter's box toward the mound after a Holtzman pitch sailed behind the Angel outfielder. Plate umpire Emmett Ashford stepped in front of Smith before he had taken more than three or four steps.

In defense of Holtzman, the Cubs' bonus boy from the University of Illinois, Durocher said:

"Ken merely was trying to throw a strike and the ball sailed on him. These things will happen to a kid with little more than a half-year's experience in pro ball. Hell's fire, you don't throw at anybody in a spring game, especially a batter leading off an inning, as Smith was."

"Apparently you don't un- less your name is Sanford. He threw at Ken on his very first pitch when the kid led off our sixth. It takes a lot of heart to do something like that with a kid pitcher at the plate."

Redskins Announce Signing Of Richter

Washington (AP)—The Washington Redskins announced Monday the signing of split end and punter Pat Richter for the 1966 season.

Richter, 24, a former University of Wisconsin star who was the Redskins' first draft choice in 1963, was fourth among the National Football League's punters last year with a 43.8-yard average.

Sanders, Bondeson Fined In Tourney

... VIOLATING PGA RULES

Palm Beach Gardens, Fla. (AP)—Doug Sanders and Paul Bondeson were slapped with $100 fines Monday for violating PGA tournament regulations by Tournament Supervisor Jack Tuthill.

Sanders was fined for violation of two sections of the code of ethics in the PGA tour regulations.

One prohibits "conduct which can be considered in any way to be detrimental or derogatory to other tournament players, the PGA, its tournament bureau, tournament manager, tournament supervisor or acting supervisor in charge."

The other requires that "suggestions, criticism or complaints involving either the PGA, the sponsors of the club, the course, the employees or representatives of either, the players, or the conditions of play, if they should be necessary, shall be referred to the tournament committee for their official consideration and shall not otherwise be made or publicized to or through any other persons."

In published remarks attributed to him following his disqualification from the Pensacola Open March 5 after failing to sign his second round score card, Sanders was critical of the PGA and its supervisory field staff which directs the national tournaments.

Bondeson was fined for failing to honor a commitment to play in the Maracaibo Open in Venezuela March 3-6. After agreeing to compete in all three winter tournaments of the PGA Caribbean tour and accept expense and guarantee money for doing so, the PGA said. He played in the Panama and Los Logarito Bogota, Columbia Opens but returned to the United States prior to the Maracaibo Open.

In addition to the fines, Bondeson was directed to write a letter of apology to G. D. Chambliss, chairman of the Maracaibo Open.

Telegrams were sent to Sanders and Bondeson Monday notifying them of the fines. Both players are at the Ritz Pinar Country Club, Orlando, Fla., where the $100,000 Florida Citrus Open begins Thursday.

Fines must be paid by the players before they will be permitted to tee off in the tournament, the telegram said.

Badges All Sold For Masters Golf

Augusta, Ga. (AP)—No more series badges will be sold for the 1966 Masters Golf Tournament.

R. T. (Bob) Jones Jr., president of the Augusta National Golf Club, and Clifford Roberts, chairman of the tournament, announced Monday night that orders for series badges and parking stickers already exceed the supply available.

They said mail orders were filled on a first-come first-served basis and that all badges and stickers have been sold.

This is by far the earliest date that series credentials have been sold out. Last year the final series badges were sold the day before the tournament opened and daily tickets for the last two days of the tournament were sold out in advance. Consequently many persons were turned away at the gates.

Chance Remark Warns Movement Of Braves

... BOWMAN SERVES AS WITNESS

Milwaukee (U)—A chance remark by a farm club executive gave a former member of the Milwaukee Braves Board of Directors his first inkling that Milwaukee had lost the ball club, he testified Friday.

Duane Bowman, a Madison Wis., dairy operator and a state witness in Wisconsin's antitrust suit against baseball, credited the remark to Richard Cecil, then general manager of the Braves Class AAA farm club at Denver. He said it was made at Denver July 6, 1964, three months before the Braves announced they planned to move from Milwaukee to Atlanta. Cecil told him the Braves "were long gone" from Milwaukee, Bowman said.

He was not prepared for the "shock," Bowman said, because there had been no discussions among directors of financial difficulties or Milwaukee's ability to support the Braves.

Senate Approves Winter Olympic Games In Utah

Washington (U)—The Senate gave its unqualified support Monday to holding the 1972 winter Olympic Games in Utah.

It adopted, by voice vote, a resolution approving the nomination of Utah by the U.S. Olympic Committee. The recommendation will be considered by the International Olympic Committee next month in Italy.

The resolution, unanimously recommended by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee now goes to the house. The senate committee said it hopes favorable Congressional action "will give additional weight to the invitation of the U.S. Olympic Committee."

Japanese Wrestlers In Lincoln Competition

Tokyo (UPI)—A 10-member Japanese wrestling team will participate in the U.S. National Amateur Wrestling Championship to be held at Lincoln in April, it was disclosed Tuesday.

The team, accompanied by two officials, is scheduled to leave Japan on April 1.

Washington Senators Hold Batting Practice

Pompano Beach, Fla. (U)—Manager Gil Hodges canceled a scheduled day off and held batting practice for the Washington Senators Monday following their third straight exhibition loss.

Hodges stressed bunting, a weakness last season, after the Senator twice failed to advance runners to scoring positions in the late innings of Sunday's loss to the Houston Astros.

Track Men In Danger In Mexico

Nairobi (U)—A Swedish track coach contends athletes will endanger their lives by competing in the endurance events of the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City's 7,300 feet altitude.

"There will be those who will die," Osmi Niskanen warned recently.

Since then, medical teams have reported there is little danger of death, although the altitude will impair performance.

Niskanen remains unconvinced. "I still stand by what I said some months ago," he said Monday. "I believe there is a definite danger factor for athletes running endurance events in Mexico. The events of 400 meters or more frighten me."

"To become acclimatized completely, an athlete would have to spend at least six months in Mexico or at a site with similar altitude."

Niskanen, who guided Ethiopia's Abebe Bikila to marathon victories in the Rome and Tokyo Olympics, is in Nairobi to compete in next month's East African Safari Auto Rally.

He predicted Bikila and other Ethiopian and Kenyan athletes would perform well in the Mexico Olympics because they are accustomed to the high altitudes.

"Above Bikila, who is now training hard in Addis Ababa should win the marathon again and Kenya's Kipchoge Keino should dominate a number of events," he said.

Jones Sets Mark For Blue Catfish

Ralph (Red) Jones of St. Helena has landed a new state record for blue catfish, the Game Commission reports.

The monstrous cat weighed in at 79 pounds and topped by 3 pounds the lunker taken by Orville Sudbeck of Hartington less than a year ago. Sudbeck's blue cat, taken on March 16, 1965, scaled 76 pounds.

Jones took his prize while snagging on the Missouri River north of St. Helena. It measured 51 1/4 inches long and 34 1/2 inches around. With him were Keith Neuhauser and Don Hausman, both of St. Helena. The party also took another blue that weighed about 40 pounds and several paddlefish.

Tigers' Horton Must Work On Weight

... DETROIT STAR FIGHTS OVERWEIGHT ALL YEAR DESPITE EXERCISE

Lakeland, Fla. (U)—Willie Horton of the Detroit Tigers has a weight problem. He knows it, and so does manager Charley Dressen.

Willie can sweat and sweat all day long in taking off four pounds. Then he gulps down a couple of soft drinks and he's back where he started.

"Willie worked hard all winter," Dressen said. "He convinced Jim Campbell, our general manager, that he would come in at 209 pounds. Jim bet me he would make it."

"When Willie weighed in the scales went up to 209 and kept right on going. They finally stopped at 213. So I nipped Jim for $5."

"A couple of years ago I took 22 pounds off him right down here in Lakeland. I gave him the high-low treatment."

The high-low treatment consists of tossing a baseball just far enough from a player to make him bend full length to make the catch. Then the next ball is thrown just high enough to make him stretch the other way.

The work was worthwhile because Horton was the left fielder on the American League All-Star team last year. He was hitting .408 as late as May 18 and finished at .273, with 29 home runs and 104 runs batted in.

"He's my left fielder," said Dressen. "Maybe he learned something last year when he talled off in the second half. I know I saw one club throw him 21 straight slders before they gave him a fast ball."

Horton is aware of his weight problem. He worked a winter in a gym.

"I'm more concerned than they are," he said. "I want to get some more off. That's why I'm wearing this rubber shirt. I love playing baseball. It's not like a job to me."

"Since I went on that diet in 1964 I haven't had 10 pieces of bread. The weight costs me a lot of speed. I want to get down to 200. Trouble is I lose and gain it back. It's not that I'm not trying"

Boxing Board Suggests New Contender

London (U)—The British Boxing Board of Control denounced George Chuvalo of Canada, as a contender for the world heavyweight boxing championship Monday and suggested that British champion Henry Cooper should fight Cassius Clay for the title instead.

Teddy Waltham, secretary of the BBC, said:

"The board still recognizes Clay as the champion but what we are trying to do is to get the controlling bodies throughout the whole world not to recognize this fight."

The World Boxing Association has refused recognition of the Clay-Chuvalo fight scheduled for Toronto on March 29.

"The circumstances and ramifications which have arisen in connection with the Clay-Chuvalo contest are, in the view of the board, undignified, degrading and detrimental to the interests of the sport and are to be deplored," the BB said.

Burglars Hit Home Of Weeb Ewbank

White Plains, N. Y. (U)—The home of Weeb Ewbank, coach and general manager of the New York Jets football team, was burglarized over the weekend, police reported today.

Ewbank said the burglars, who got into the house through a basement window, took a portable television set, two radios and some jewelry valued at $710 while the coach and his wife were visiting friends.

Industrial Relations Court Asked Into IBEW-City Tiff

A union local asked the Nebraska Court of Industrial Relations Monday to assume jurisdiction in a dispute over wages and benefits for 73 employees of the Lincoln Water and Light Department.

The attorney for the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 1525

David D. Weinberg of Omaha, said in a petition the city has refused to bargain with the union.

He said the 73 employees, members of the union, authorized the filing of the court action.

The petition named the City and its agent, Consumers

Public Power District, as defendants.

Impairment Feared

Weinberg said the dispute if left unsettled will lead to a "substantial impairment or suspension of the operation" of the water and light department.

The Court of Industrial Relations should assume jurisdiction because an "Industrial dispute exists" concerning government service in a proprietary capacity, the attorney claimed.

On Jan. 13, union leaders asked for a 29 cent an hour blanket wage increase for the 73 employees, certain wage classification changes, a six-month automatic promotion for all class one employees and initiation of a $1.99 per hour starting minimum wage for laborers.

Mayor's Reply

Lincoln Mayor Dean Petersen, in a letter to Local 1525 Business Manager Virgil D. Cash of Omaha, replied four days later:

"As has been the City of Lincoln's policy in the past the city does not consider it proper either from a policy or legal standpoint to recognize any union as a bargaining agent or to discuss wages and working conditions of city employees other than with individual employees or with an employee acting as a representative for fellow employees."

Northwestern Bell Granted Lower Rates

The State Railway Commission Monday reported it has approved a rate structure change requested by Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. of Omaha which will reduce rates for about 7,740 customers in Douglas and Sarpy counties.

Company spokesmen said the rate structure revision will reduce costs to the customers by an estimated $121,000 annually.

Approved was the firm's request for expansion of the base rate area of the metropolitan exchange farther north, west and east of the city.

Transferred

As a result, a one-party customer transferred from a zoned area to the base rate area would receive a rate reduction of 85 cents per month, company officials said as an example.

There were no protests to the application.

The commission also approved the unopposed application of Fremont Transit Lines to increase its bus fares.

The company's rate structure previously called for a 10 cent charge for children under 12 years of age, 15 cents for those 12 to 18, 20 cents for adults and $135 for seven tokens.

New Rates

The new rate schedule calls for a 15 cent charge for persons under 18, 25 cents for adults and $170 for seven tokens.

The commission also approved the applications of the Burlington Railroad to discontinue its custodian at the Marsland station and of the Hagen Truck Lines, Inc., Sioux City, Iowa, to increase its minimum weight for loads of meat from McCook and North Platte to Omaha from 30,000 to 38,000 pounds, effective April 1.

Meyer Studying Imported Meat Sales Ruling

State Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer said Monday he is studying a New York federal court ruling involving laws curbing the sale of imported meats.

The 1963 Nebraska Legislature enacted a law requiring the labeling of foreign-origin meats and meat products sold in the state.

It is possible that the New York ruling could affect that act, which went into effect Nov. 18.

Meyer said he plans to advise State Agriculture Director Pearl F. Finigan later this week "with respect on how he should administer the Nebraska act."

In New York, a three-judge federal court panel said that state laws aimed at harassing the sale of imported meat are unconstitutional.

The ruling specifically involved a Tennessee statute, which required labeling of imported meat products and imposed a license fee on processors or dealers in imported meat.

The Nebraska law requires all grocery stores to label foreign meat. Restaurants must denote imported products on their menus.

The act is administered by the State Agriculture Department. Violators are subject to prosecution for a misdemeanor.

The Nebraska law was opposed during the last session of the Legislature by representatives of meat processing firms. They said at that time a conflict existed with federal law.

Morrison Hails LBJ's Viet Nam Stand

Gov. Frank Morrison Monday described President Johnson as one of America's most dedicated peace presidents and said the administration is bent on a policy of containment and not aggression in Viet Nam.

He commented at a news conference to brief local newsmen on the President's session with the nation's governors in Washington over the weekend.

Morrison noted that the governors unanimously passed a resolution supporting the President in Southeast Asia.

"This was a wonderful conference with the President and his top military advisors," Morrison said. "I'm convinced more than ever that (Johnson) is dedicated to a peaceful solution to the war within our treaty commitments."

The governor said he believes the American people are confused over American objectives in Viet Nam. He said the United States is committed to help the South Vietnamese because of a treaty signed with the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in the 1950s.

Morrison said he's sure President Johnson does not seek to broaden the war. He said the United States must make it clear "we are not there for exploitation."

Morrison, a candidate for the U.S. Senate, said the American political system will be on trial in elections this year. He urged all citizens to get out and vote.

New York (AP) A drug banned because it damaged animals' eyes has shown no ill effects on human eyes, physicians said Monday.

One New York eye specialist, Dr. Dan Gordon, gave the drug in direct eye drops to 108 patients with eye inflammations for weeks before the Food and Drug Administration last fall prohibited further human testing of it. Gordon said there "were no deleterious (harmful) effects" to their eyes then or since. The drug benefited some patients, but didn't affect others, and "I'm not sure how to use it."

Monday's reports add another chapter in the story of DMSO—dimethyl sulfoxide—a chemical known for 100 years, obtained as a by-product from wood-pulping, and long used as a commercial solvent.

Some 70 scientists and physicians are presenting reports on DMSO at a three-day conference sponsored by the New York Academy of Sciences.

Recent medical studies credit DMSO with remarkable effects, at least sometimes, in such a wide variety of conditions that it has been referred to as a kind of universal drug.

It's been credited with having pain-relieving, antibacterial, and antiinflammatory properties.

With direct application, it goes through the skin, apparently to all body tissues.

German authorities estimate that 500,000 persons throughout the world have received DMSO. One American source estimates that 50,000 U.S. patients have been treated.

Throw Away Your Denture Adhesive

New Dental Discovery Ends Need for Pastes and Powders

New York, N. Y. (Special)—After years of research, scientists have discovered an entirely new substance to make false teeth fit beautifully. Denture wearers report such success with this new substance in refitting loose dentures that they no longer need paste and powder adhesives.

This new dental discovery is a soft, pliable plastic that is applied directly to dentures from the tube. User then inserts dentures into mouth and bites down. Instantly, this new substance molds to the exact contours of mouth and gums, holding dentures firmly in place through soothing suction—so powerful that even those with difficult lower can laugh, talk and eat anything with complete confidence. Loosening, slipping, and clicking disappear. Sore spots are quickly relieved. One application lasts weeks, stays soft and pliable in use. Nightly cleansing does not wash it away, yet it is easily removed when desired. It will not harm plates. This substance makes it possible to refit and relive worn dentures at home, saving over $100 on costly relining work.

This new substance is now available at drugstores under the name Cushion Grip®, with a full money-back guarantee. Get Cushion Grip today and end the need for paste and powder adhesives forever.

Most Cigarette Prices Are Raised

New York (AP)—R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. and American Tobacco Co., the nation's two largest cigarette manufacturers, announced penny-a-pack increases on most brands Monday and other manufacturers followed suit.

American was the first to announce the 40-cent increase in wholesale prices per 1,000 cigarettes.

The companies did not say why they were raising prices. A Reynolds spokesman in Winston-Salem, N.C., said the list price of Winston, Salem, Brandon, Tempo and Cavalier cigarettes will rise from $9 to $9.40 per 1,000 effective Tuesday. Camel regulars will advance from $8.80 to $9 but no change will be made on the Camel filters and Prince Albert filters.

Liggett & Myers and Philip Morris also joined in the price increase.

American Tobacco's raise applied to Lucky Strike regulars, Lucky Strike filters, Tareyton, Carlton, Waterford, Half and Half, Montclair and Pall Mall nonfilters.

An exception to the price boosts were Pall Mall filters, reduced in price by $2.60 per 1,000.

Philip Morris raised Marlboro, Philip Morris filters, Philip Morris Commander, Parliament filter, Paxton Menthol, Alpine, Galaxy, and Philip Morris regular. The price of Benson and Hedges 100s was cut $2.60 per 1,000.

Liggett & Myers boost applied across its lines.

Pioneer Insurance Company Elects Lombard President

Pioneer Insurance Company elected Abner Lombard president at its annual meeting Monday.

while the year end surplus totaled $753,057.

Pioneer will soon move into its new offices at 1335 L. The building was purchased by the company this year, and will serve as the home office.

Other officers elected include Richard Gaffney, secretary-treasurer; Dr. Charles Wilson, vice-president and medical director; Michael Toussaint, regional vice-president; and Ray Neimaster, Wendell Penn, Gaffney, Dr. Wilson, Russell Lundy, Ed Rosendahl, Dr. A. Korver, L. R. Rickett, Myron Weil, Herbert Hughes, and William Colwell, board members.

The firm's annual report indicates an increase of 14% to a total of $15,901,702. Premiums for life insurance and health and accident insurance increased 56.1% and 76.6%, respectively. Total assets were up 24.8% to $2,064,383.

Stock Prices Dip To New '66 Lows

New York (UPI) — The stock market decline entered its fifth week Monday with prices taking one of their sharpest losses off the series and sinking to new lows for 1966. Trading was relatively slow.

Volume was 7.41 million shares compared with Friday's 7.07 million.

Hog Prices Advance At Omaha

Omaha (U) — Hog prices climbed in Omaha trading Monday with some butchers up 75 cents. But fat cattle prices, which has been picking up steam for weeks, slid $1 to $1.50 on better grades.

Interstate Work Wage Hikes OK'd

The U. S. Labor Department has ordered wage increases averaging 13 cents per hour for Nebraska interstate highway construction work outside the Omaha area, State Engineer John Hossack said Monday.

The minimum wage for operators of small bulldozers was hiked the most, 25 cents, to $2.30 per hour, and the minimum rates for mechanics and drivers of certain types of trucks were increased 20 cents per hour.

The Labor Department order, issued two weeks ago, made no changes in the minimum rates for carpenters and painters.

The order called for a 10 cent increase in the rate for common laborers, but Hossack received word Monday the Labor Department reconsidered and returned the common laborer rate to the previous $1.65.

Hossack said the changes were based on federal examination of wages paid workmen for comparable work in the area. The new rates affect all interstate highway work, except that done in the Omaha union area, Douglas and Sarpy counties and parts of Washington, Cass and Saunders counties.

A federal law authorizes the Labor Department to set minimum wage rates for certain construction projects involving federal aid.

Hossack said the wage minimums are revised annually by the Labor Department, generally resulting in 10 cent per hour increases for most of the 47 job classifications. He said the new rates would not result in any substantial increases in highway construction costs.

Job classifications gaining 15 cent per hour minimum wage increases included cement finisher, concrete saw operator, form setter, all purpose spreader, large bulldozer operator, conveyor operator, crusher operator, dredge pump operator, elevating frader operator, small front end loader operator, finishing motor grader operator, oiler or greaser, plant operator, traveling plant operator, scraper operator, operators of certain types of tractors, trenching machine operator and welder.

Sale Of Eight School Land Tracts Approved By Board

The State Board of Educational Lands and Funds Monday confirmed the sale of eight tracts of state-owned school lands totaling 962 acres to the highest bidders for $112,738.

Five exceeded the board's appraisal price, but three sold to previous lessees for the minimum value set by the board.

Four tracts totaling 1,233 acres in Cherry County and one 80-acre tract in Sioux County failed to generate any bids and will be offered for new six-year leases in late April.

Six other tracts, on which leases have expired, will also be put on the auction block. The tracts and counties in which they are located are Franklin, 320 acres; Frontier, 160 acres; Madison, 40 acres; Morrill, 40 acres; Loup, 140 acres, and Valley, 80 acres.

The eight tracts on which the board confirmed sale were the first to be sold under the directive of the 1965 Legislature that the 1.6 million acres of school lands be put on the auction block as existing leases expires.

The tracts, location, purchaser, high bid and appraisal shown in parenthesis, are:

Fairbury Flood Control Project Wins Approval

Gov. Frank Morrison Monday announced federal approval of a $351,000 flood control project for Fairbury.

The U.S. Corps of Engineer estimated the federal cost at $330,200 with the non-federal share amounting to $21,400 for land acquisition and alterations in utilities.

Preconstruction work will start immediately.

Omaha Hearing On Commitment Law Set Friday

The Legislative Council's committee on the mentally ill will hold a public hearing Friday in Omaha regarding present commitment procedures for the mentally ill.

The hearing, commencing at 9:30 a.m. in the commissioners hearing room of the Douglas County Courthouse, will not include the care of the mentally ill in institutions.

All persons interested in commitment procedures are invited to meet with the committee.

2 More Driving Classes Slated

How You May

Never Take a Laxative Again!

New Miracle Regulator
Keeps Waste Soft—So
Bowels Move Naturally

New York, N.Y. (Special)—After 12 years' research, scientists have discovered a wonder-working substance that corrects constipation entirely without laxatives!

Doctors say most constipation occurs when waste loses moisture in the colon—becomes dry, hard, difficult to move. To give relief, laxatives have to force action by flushing, irritating or distending the intestine.

The new miracle substance—known medically as dioctyl sodium sulfosuccinate—works in a completely different way. It is not a laxative! It simply makes natural moisture in the colon moisten and soften dry, hard waste more effectively. Then normal elimination follows naturally. Thus by working only on waste, not on you, the substance corrects constipation and restores regularity as no laxative can.

This new discovery has now been made available at drugstores under the name Reorol. It is safe—no habit-forming. No warning on the label—no prescription needed. Try Reorol—discover for yourself that you may never need to take a laxative again!
